Statement of the Work and Payment Schedule

Rescue Autumn's People (R.A.P) is a program for Multnomah County residents that will notify emergency first responders about people whose disabilities may completely hinder them from safely exiting a dangerous situation independently. The program is intended to better help people who, due to severe disabilities, cannot help themselves during emergencies.

Through voluntary submission of personal disability information, the client's address will be flagged in the 9-1-1 systems at the Portland Bureau of Emergency Communications (BOEC). In the event of an emergency at your client's residence emergency dispatchers will immediately relay disability information to first responders. With this information first responders will be better prepared to help people requiring total assistance to safely evacuate from a residence during an emergency.

Disability information is considered private and will not be provided to any outside agencies, however in the event of an emergency, client information will be provided to responders via the police, fire or ambulance radio system.
