7. BACKGROUND ANALYSIS

The Public Involvement Advisory Council (PIAC) was adopted by City Council on Feb. 27, 2008, Resolution No. 36582. The goal of the PIAC is to strengthen and institutionalize the City's commitment to public involvement through adopted principles, policies, and guidelines that assist City bureaus in creating consistent expectations and processes for public involvement activities.

The Public Involvement Advisory Council is a standing body accountable to City Council comprised of community members and City staff working collaboratively. The Public Involvement Advisory Council will develop and advocate for policy and best practices related to improving public involvement across all City of Portland bureaus.

The role of the PIAC is to:

- Review and refine past recommendations regarding citywide public involvement.
- Develop guidelines and policy recommendations for citywide public involvement, to be presented to City Council for approval.
- Provide support and advice to City Council and City bureaus with implementation of shared public involvement guidelines and best practices.

- Encourage ongoing collaboration between the community, City bureaus and City Council in the development of shared public involvement guidelines.

Below is a list of candidates being brought forward for appointment or reappointment with their organizational affiliations. The four members being brought forward for appointments to the PIAC are all city staff members that are replacing former representatives from their bureau.

Each of the six members being brought forward for re-appointment has served one full term and has opted to serve a second term. The PIAC Charter allows members to serve a maximum of two terms. The selection committee felt that each of these members have been an immense asset on the PIAC and that the City would benefit from their continued service as they would enhance PIAC's ability to complete its current goals and initiatives.
