The City also straddles three identified crustal faults that stretch t length of Portland capable of generating moderately large earthquakes of M 5.0-6.8. The Earthquake Response Appendix supplements the City's Basic Emergency Operations Plan (BEOP) by describing how the City will respond to and begin recovering from a strong earthquake. The purpose of the Earthquake Response Appendix is to provide a consistent and flexible framework for Portland City government, regional partners and private entities to work in a coordinated manner in response to a large magnitude earthquake. The Earthquake Response Appendix applies to all City bureaus, staff and elected officials and acknowledges the City alor cannot respond to the myriad challenges posed by a significant seismic event. The City depends on its strong partnerships with public and private sector organizations and the general public to develop a resilient community able to withstand any emergency. 3) Which area(s) of the city are affected by this Council item? ### 7. BACKGROUND/ANALYSIS

A large-scale emergency will affect the ability of emergency responders and government officials to communicate by damaging, disrupting or degrading one or more communications systems. Timely communication affects the quality of the response provided and the outcomes achieved. When an emergency occurs, communication is critical to the response to, and recovery from, the incident. Even if no infrastructure damage occurs, the nature of the emergency may overwhelm the capacity of the communications systems in place. The Communication Annex describes the City's communications and information technology infrastructure and establishes a concept of operations for the use of these communications systems in an emergency event. The Communication Annex supports the City of Portland's Basic Emergency Operations Plan and applies to all City bureaus, staff and elected officials. The provisions of the Communication Annex establish a common understanding of the communications systems used to facilitate and coordinate the exchange and sharing of information and how these systems will be managed during an emergency event.

8. FINANCIAL IMPACT

See Financial Impact Statement.

9. RECOMMENDATION/ACTION REQUESTED

The Communications Annex to the Basic Emergency Operations Plan be adopted as a non-binding policy.
