

MEMORANDUM OF UNDERSTANDING
U.S. Department of Justice Office on Violence Against Women
Grants to Encourage Arrest Policies and Enforcement of Protections Orders Program

This Memorandum of Understanding formally establishes collaboration between Multnomah County Domestic Violence Coordination Office (DVCO), the Portland Police Bureau (PPB), the Multnomah County Sheriff's Office (MCSO), the District Attorney (DA), Department of Community Justice (DCJ), and the nonprofit, non-governmental victim services programs of Volunteers of America, Oregon Home Free (VOA) and Catholic Charities' El Programa Hispano for the purposes of the Department of Justice Office on Violence Against Women Grants to Encourage Arrest Policies and Enforcement of Protection Orders Program in order to continue operation of the Domestic Violence Enhanced Response Team (DVERT).

Goals and Objectives of DVERT:

The goals of DVERT are to identify and effectively respond to high-risk offenders and to increase the safety and well-being of victims. Objectives include the following:

1. Assure sanctions for high-risk domestic violence offenders, through the provision of a centralized, intensive, coordinated law enforcement / criminal justice response.
2. Increase victims' safety in high-risk domestic violence cases by providing victim advocacy including risk assessment, safety planning to address the specific risks identified, assistance in obtaining needed services and restraining / stalking protective orders, and most effectively utilizing the services of the civil and criminal justice systems. These services will be provided to both those victims who wish to participate in a coordinated law enforcement / criminal justice response and those who choose not to participate in the DVERT centralized criminal justice response.

3. Increase capacity of professionals working in the fields of criminal justice, victim services, mental health, health care and other social services to more effectively respond to high-risk cases through: consistent recognition of and appropriate response to high-risk offenders; routine and thorough assessment of the level of danger faced by victims of domestic violence, strangulation and stalking; and system-wide participation in quality improvement efforts that increase the effectiveness of responses.

Collaborative Relationships:

The partners named above have a long history of collaboration and coordination. All of the partners are long-standing members of the Multnomah County Family Violence Coordinating Council, with memberships going back to the early 1990s. Representatives from each of these agencies actively participate in many of the Council's activities and subcommittees, including the Domestic Violence Fatality Review Committee, the Civil Court Committee, the Training Committee, and the Executive Committee.

In 1999, the Portland Police Bureau (PPB) received its first Department Of Justice STOP Violence Against Women Act grant and began a close working relationship with the community-based victim services programs of VOA Home Free (VOA) and Catholic Charities El Programa Hispano (CC). During the two years of that grant, police/advocate teams followed up on PPB reports of "low-level" domestic violence cases to prevent future crimes, and together significantly improved the likelihood of prosecution of offenders involved in domestic violence crimes. In 2003, another 2 year grant was awarded through a Department of Justice Project Safe Neighborhood grant, which supported again PPB working to work with VOA and CC to form officer/advocate teams that focused on offenders who used firearms in domestic violence crimes.

In 2004, through a local United Way grant, the grant partners came together to develop and implement DVERT in Multnomah County. In July 2006, with Department of Justice, Office on Violence Against Women, Grants to Encourage Arrests Program funding DVERT expanded to its current model. The current model includes three officer/advocate teams that focus on domestic violence crimes committed by individuals who have been identified as high-risk for committing further violence and/or high levels of violence. All of the listed MOU partner agencies currently actively participate in DVERT. In addition, managers from each of the partner agencies are active members of the DVERT Steering Committee.

Participation in Developing the Application:

Since the inception of DVERT, each of the partner agencies has been actively involved in developing the underlying model of response. DVERT line staff meet bi-weekly, and managers and supervisors from the participating agencies meet at least quarterly as a Steering Committee to discuss the functioning of DVERT. In the Steering Committee meetings the DVERT partner agencies collaboratively discuss changes to procedures, areas of project success and review what system changes could be made to more effectively respond to both high-risk cases and lower risk cases. Specifically for this grant proposal, DVCO held one meeting with the partner agencies and met with partners individually as needed to review the status of the project, and come to an agreement regarding changes proposed or instituted since the inception of DVERT, the content of this MOU and the proposed proposal narrative and budget. The partners were also given an opportunity to review and comment on a draft of this application, including the proposed budget.
