Presenter name: Michael Kerr

Purpose of proposed legislation and background information:

- Authorize the Portland Bureau of Transportation to participate in the Sidewalk Labs, Replica pilot test, which will be led by METRO
- METRO led Replica is a detailed, full-scale model of how people travel through a region that doesn't compromise individuals' privacy because of the use of a synthetic population. Replica is updated quarterly, making it possible to examine how transportation patterns change over time.

Financial and budgetary impacts:

- The cost to participate in this pilot is $152,433.33, paid in 3 quarterly installments of $50,811.11 to be paid from General Transportation Revenue that was requested in the Fall '18 BMP.

Community impacts and community involvement:

- None
