

About the Map

Sustainable Southeast is a grassroots organization whose purpose is to boost and integrate sustainability efforts in inner Southeast Portland, while building more livable neighborhoods, stimulating the local economy and strengthening our community. Goals include promoting and highlighting sustainable business practices, inspiring cooperation among neighborhoods, managing energy, water, and waste, strengthening local food and alternative transportation systems, and empowering local governance and community identity.

The Sustainable Southeast Map was launched in 2012 as a "getting to know you" guide to more sustainable living in inner Southeast Portland. It lets shoppers know about sustainable businesses, connects readers to bike corrals and electric car charging stations and makes it easier for pedestrians and bikers to find the neighborhood green streets.

Whether you're living, working, shopping or simply enjoying being here, keep this map in a handy location and use it as your guide to inner Southeast. By using it, you are an active participant in realizing a shared vision of a more resilient and sustainable future.

This map is printed locally on 100% Post Consumer waste, FSC Certified Paper using soy based inks.

About the Community

Sustainable Southeast pools the energy of the "Labor to the River" community made up of four unique business districts, Hawthorne Boulevard Business Association (HBBA), Belmont Area Business Association (BABA), Division/Clinton Business Association (DCBA), Central Eastside Industrial Council (CEIC) and the five contiguous Southeast neighborhoods: Buckman, Hosford/Abernethy, Sunnyside, Richmond and Mt. Tabor.

Here you'll find a friendly and engaged, yet laid-back vibe along with world-class eateries, walkable neighborhoods and a fresh mix of shops, street musicians, food carts, and bars. Inner Southeast Portland neighborhoods host annual tree plantings, rooftop solar installations, the highest concentration of "green streets," where native plants absorb stormwater, and have seen a steady increase in the number of buildings, new and old, that now consume less energy. The Sustainable Southeast community is excited to be involved with sustainable business practices and collaborative community systems that positively impact people, planet, and profits.

Community Assets Defined:
 Organizations, structures and other local resources that help communities become more affordable, livable, supportive, participatory & resilient

Eco-Certification

Eco-Certification Defined:

A voluntary procedure by which a facility, product, process, or service is assessed, subject to an audit, and issued a written guarantee stating it meets specific standards. It grants a "marketable" logo to those meeting or exceeding basic standards. Eco-Certification ideally verifies quality, safety and environmental, social & economic responsibility by a second or third party.

A quick-reference guide to sustainable businesses, grassroots ecology efforts, and community resources in inner Southeast Portland, Oregon.

Thank you for this opportunity to speak with you. My name is Bill Levesque, and I am the president of the Hawthorne Boulevard Business Association, the HBBA.

Portland is growing. It is a unique and wonderful city where more and more people are finding home. We appreciate the challenges you are managing to ensure the city maintains its culture, quality and character as we move into the future.

Our district stretches along southeast Hawthorne from twelfth to fifty fifth Avenues and SE Main to Stephens with more than 500 unique businesses, 3,500 jobs and 10,000 residents. Hawthorne is a favorite destination for local, regional and national visitors.

Our neighborhood, like all of Portland, has changed and continues to change. Structures will be replaced. The question is how do we retain the spirit of our neighborhood.

Recent construction has brought new multi-family housing buildings which is important to our city. We want to increase diversity and that means retaining a range of rental costs to accommodate a range of income levels. A mix of buildings, large and small, old & new is more likely to achieve this result. We also want to reduce our carbon footprint. This isn't change for change sake, we are at a critical point where cities can make effective decisions to improve each of these areas. It is doable, it is affordable and it is right.

But part of our success will be measured by how we maintain the treasure of our past as we build for the future. Some of Portland's new buildings will be tomorrow's treasures. But some of these, frankly, do not fit. They don't take into account the character of the city, the neighborhood or even adjacent buildings. Our buildings have a dominant impact on the feel of a neighborhood. A good design celebrates what is there and contributes to the vibe of the neighborhood.

A bad design can have a dramatic negative impact. A one hundred year mistake. We are responsible for these decisions.

The Design Overlay Zoning Amendments (DOZA) Standards & Guidelines currently being created by the city are a necessary framework. We look forward to these tools going into place. However, the process needs to take into account the unique identity of each neighborhood to ensure that added density doesn't come at the expense of Portland's unique character..

We believe it is important that the DOZA tools are implemented with two key components:

1. The adoption of design standards and guidelines that acknowledge and support the unique character of Portland's main streets and
2. The requirement that developers work with the community on designs prior to permit/design approval by the Bureau of Development Services.

The HBBA worked with the PDX Main Streets Initiative to shape and then adopt the Mainstreet Design Guidelines to ensure our corridors have lively public spaces, active ground floors, livable residential units, historic cohesion and appropriate step-ups/step-backs.

The proposed DOZA standards currently set 55 feet as the threshold for design review. But most of the new buildings along Hawthorne are between 45 & 55 feet. We need a second Design Commission focused on the East side of the city and we need to create a Hawthorne Design Overlay Panel with participants from the Hawthorne community. We appreciate your help.

Good morning City Leaders and Policy Makers. My name is Roger Jones, owner and President of Aetna Brokerage, Inc.(ABI) founded by my father in 1948. We have been a family owned business for over seventy years. I come today as a fifth generation, Portland born Oregonian, founder of the Hawthorne Boulevard Business Association (HBBA) and Board member of both HBBA and Venture Portland.

In our small but distinctive business district, we are legacy to a disproportionate number of buildings on the City's URM List -one of which was an ABI investment as early as 1953!! Others may have differing views but I was born and bred on URM buildings. My passion is somewhat proportional to my experiences.

Forty-two buildings in our District have long contributed to the unique and loved identity of Hawthorne Boulevard. Please notice in your packet a current image of thirty-year pioneer businesses, Pastaworks and Powell's Books, the building still vacant since 2016 due to lack of certainty caused primarily by the building's being on the URM List.

As a property owner I understand the critical need to ensure life/safety protections in buildings as well as the significant and serious challenges our City's historic building stock will face if the really big one comes.

At this time I'd like to again thank Commissioners Fish and Hardesty for acting on behalf of the small businesses' and the greater community's continuing testimony regarding URM's.

Notice another listed URM building is a graffiti magnet (above):

The HBBA asks you, our City leaders,

First to ensure the URM list is accurate and does not negatively impact property owner's ability to secure insurance coverage, tenants or financing to make life/safety improvements;

Second to increase masonry building owner representation on the newly announced URM Policy Committee -currently only 16% of the Committee members are commercial building owners with the majority of the Committee made up of contractors who primarily stand to benefit from reinforcement requirements;

Third to include a Committee representative from the Hawthorne District and

Lastly to explore innovative funding options and incentives to help legacy property owners do the right thing and reinforce their unique buildings.

Small business owners are creative problem solvers - we have to to stay in business. Hawthorne will happily gather URM property owners together for a solution-focused interactive group tasked with identifying financial capacity incentives and invite all of you to attend. The Hawthorne District information could then be shared with the City-wide URM Policy Committee.

Thank you for the opportunity to address City Council today.

Good morning council members and attendees. My name is Mary Wilkinson, Secretary of the Hawthorne Boulevard Business Association, Business Member Specialist with OnPoint Community Credit Union, Sole Proprietor, and 5th generation Portland resident.

As we promote the design of beautiful neighborhoods and well reinforced buildings city wide, we also need to maintain the quality of cleanliness and the usability of these areas. Hawthorne businesses have been contributing resources at an unprecedented rate over the last year to simply maintain critical problems including overwhelming district trash, graffiti and safety needs. Earlier this month, more than 200 volunteers including business owners, employees and residents participated in a clean up effort removing pounds of litter and cleaning graffiti around Hawthorne. The HBBA is hosting another clean up effort before the Hawthorne Street Fair on Sunday, August 25th.

The City says one of the best ways to deter more graffiti is by removing it in a timely fashion. As business owners and residents struggle to keep up with the ongoing graffiti issues along our district we thank the City of Portland Graffiti Program and the budget dollars that fund it. By continuing to fund relief efforts, the city shows that it supports the prosperity of local businesses and the quality of life of the community.

We would also like to express our thanks to the Bureau of Planning and Sustainability for the 'Keep it Pretty, Rose City' Clean-up Toolkit which notes, "clean, inviting sidewalks enhance the vitality and functionality of an area. It's a fact that transportation hubs, business districts and public places where people shop, eat and gather tend to generate more trash," the Hawthorne district is no exception and we appreciate the Mayor's commitment to making Portland the cleanest city in the county and BPS' proposed 5 year roll out of trash receptacles to the highest trafficked districts. Providing public trash cans along the length of our district is financially out of reach for our business association. We would like to establish a partnership with the Public Trash Can Program and announce a roll out date for trash receptacles and service to Hawthorne at the hanging of our new district banners this summer, which were graciously provided by a sponsorship from Venture Portland.

We are working together as a district and community to maintain and protect the cleanliness, safety, history and future of Hawthorne. To summarize our requests today the Hawthorne Boulevard Business Association is asking the city to create a Hawthorne design overlay panel with participants from the community, to expand to a higher level of membership by owners directly impacted by unreinforced masonry buildings and to bring trash receptacles to Hawthorne. Thank you to my colleagues Bill and Roger, attendees and members of council for allowing a space for open communication about our city today.
