Written testimony: I am writing to express our collective and immediate concern about the Portland Film Office being completely cut from the City budget.

I am asking you to please reconsider the full cutting of the Portland Film Office. It is a critical piece of the economic and workforce development work we do with and for the City. We'd like to be given the chance to find a constructive solution for all sides rather than a full cut of 100% of funding.

We have several TV series that are looking to return to the Portland Metro area possibly as early as July or August including the third season of SHRILL. I know how hard Prosper Portland is working to support all areas of the Portland economy just now so it is important to note that Season 2 of SHRILL, just on its own, spent $350,000 on hotel rooms, travel and meals; their Portland local payroll was $5.6M; they spent $240,000 on cars, taxis, parking (including $22,000 paid directly to the City of Portland in metered parking and permit fees); and $485,000 just on locations and security. And that's over only a 3 month period.

I am writing to express our collective and immediate concern about the Portland Film Office being completely cut from the City budget.

I know very well how hard it is in the current environment to have to deal with accommodating budget cuts - our office is dealing with its own issues on this front at the moment. I do understand that things need to be streamlined and creative budget solutions need to be found.

Despite that, I am asking you to please reconsider the full cutting of the Portland Film Office. It is a critical piece of the economic and workforce development work we do with and for the City. We'd like to be given the chance to find a constructive solution for all sides rather than a full cut of 100% of funding.

We have several TV series that are looking to return to the Portland Metro area possibly as early as July or August including the third season of SHRILL. I know how hard Prosper Portland is working to support all areas of the Portland economy just now so it is important to note that Season 2 of SHRILL, just on its own, spent $350,000 on hotel rooms, travel and meals; their Portland local payroll was $5.6M; they spent $240,000 on cars, taxis, parking (including $22,000 paid directly to the City of Portland in metered parking and permit fees); and $485,000 just on locations and security. And that's over only a 3 month period.

As you might recall SHRILL was originally set in Seattle and we convinced them not only to bring the shoot to Portland but to set it in Portland. This is because Portland has always been a great place to shoot and the producers of SHRILL (who also did PORTLANDIA and DOCUMENTARY NOW!) know that very well. But that reputation (and all of that spending and employment) is based on the work of the Portland Film Office.

And that's just SHRILL. It doesn't include the (similar) numbers from projects like two seasons of TRINKETS, AMERICAN VANDAL, THE PERFECTIONISTS and the upcoming Netflix film SORTA LIKE A ROCKSTAR and the Nicolas Cage film PIG - and many more. All of these projects utilize local vendors, stay in local hotels and hire the vast majority of their crew locally.

The PFO is an immense asset to our ecosystem, industry and community. The timing of cutting this office couldn't be worse as I'm taking calls every day about projects wanting to bring all of that spending and all of those jobs to the City of Portland. All of those conversations are precarious due the time we are living through and could easily go somewhere else.

I urge you to reconsider this complete cut and to engage with the impacted community to find a constructive, alternate solution to this decision that works for both sides. The work and support of the PFO means a lot to our entire community and to our efforts to support and grow the film, television, animation, commercial and interactive industry here in Portland.

Thank you for your consideration.

Best,

Tim Williams
Executive Director

Re: Protest of RFP#19-53: Construction Manager/General Contractor Services
For The Abatement and Demolition of Certain United States Postal Service Facilities And Remediation of Contaminated Soil

Dear Mr. Spero:

I, Michael Martin, an Oregon native, established my business in 1997 with a dream to perform demolition and heavy civil work in Portland. I have completed several jobs and have worked for many agencies however, as I grew my business, I struggled to find meaningful opportunities where I could participate having a significant role on the project.

It was over a year ago at a business outreach meeting, Prosper Portland presented the up-coming opportunity that the USPS processing center would be demolished. For the next year I began building my team and securing resources to compete. When RFP#19-53 was introduced, I was astounded to find the diversity requirements within the RFP coupled with Prosper Portland's commitment to build capacity in locally owned African American firms. It is their mission, their strategic plan and all of their discussions. This was truly the opportunity I have been waiting for.

Northwest Infrastructure, LLC (Northwest Infrastructure) appreciates the prompt response to its protest of award of RFP#19-53 for Construction Manager/General Contractor Services for The Abatement and Demolition of Certain United States Postal Service Facilities And Remediation of Contaminated Soil (the RFP) to Northwest Demolition and Dismantling (NWD). As requested, Northwest Infrastructure's follow up protest is below.

In multiple locations throughout NWD's proposal, in what can be viewed only as an attempt to improperly inflate NWD's Business Equity ratings to gain a competitive advantage, NWD asserts it is a "small disadvantaged and minority business enterprise," including but not limited to Section 5.2.1. NWD's sole support for this proposition is that it is "certified" by Northwest Mountain Minority Supplier Development Council. Even a cursory review of the requirements for this "certification," however, identify that the criteria for such certification does not involve any assessment of size or disadvantage. Rather, the only criteria is that the entity be a for profit company in the United States, 51% minority-owned and controlled, and controlled by the minority owners. There is no size or disadvantage criteria.

Contrary to NWD's representations, the RFP explicitly defines a "Certified Firm" as those minority-owned ("MBE"), women-owned ("WBE"), disadvantaged ("DBE"), and emerging small business enterprises ("ESB") certified by the State of Oregon Office of Minority, Women, and Emerging Small Business (the "OMWESB"). NWD is not certified by OMWESB and the repeated statements as to being small, disadvantaged, and certified are not accurate and a material misrepresentation.

Moreover, NWD asserts that it does not currently comply with the Oregon COBID requirements but states it "could" apply next year provided its projected revenue falls below a certain level. Thus, contrary to its numerous representations, by NWD's own admission, NWD is not a "small, disadvantaged and minority business enterprise." Finally, these misrepresentations clearly continued as part of the follow up discussions with NWD. NWD, however, over-simplifies the criteria for certification, asserting that if it does not meet projected revenue, it may fall under the revenue limits required for certification. Certification as an MBE/WBE/DBE, is not a simple process that requires a mere application. It involves numerous other requirements and detailed regulations that are highly scrutinized to ensure that parties that are not disadvantaged are not certified and take valuable contracts from those companies that actually meet the extensive certification requirements. The purpose of the programs and need for such exacting certification requirements is to remedy the continuing effects of past and ongoing discrimination and level the playing field by providing small businesses owned and controlled by socially and economically disadvantaged individuals a fair opportunity to compete for these projects. Misrepresenting inclusion in this program to obtain a competitive advantage over other firms, as NWD has done here, only achieves the opposite, increasing the disparity between disadvantaged firms and non-disadvantaged firms, taking limited opportunities from small disadvantaged firms, and should not be condoned.

Ultimately, the RFP Documents, correspondence, and records, identify that NWD made a material misrepresentation regarding both the nature of its business and its "certification" as well as the requirements for certification. More importantly, that material misrepresentation was relied on by Prosper Portland as part of the evaluation as detailed in the evaluation notes and email correspondence (there is no support that NWD meets any of the certification requirements, that NWD will apply, or that NWD will be certified). This material misrepresentation not only calls into question NWD's credibility and the integrity of the procurement but undermines Prosper Portland's ability to make well-reasoned procurement decisions that serve the public interest. More importantly, to proceed forward with NWD will, on one hand, award and encourage such misrepresentations that only serve to highlight the un-level playing field and, on the other, discourage actual small and disadvantaged businesses from engaging in procurement when such participation appears futile against large, businesses with significant resources representing otherwise.

To preserve the integrity of the Prosper Portland procurement process, Northwest Infrastructure maintains its protest. NWD should be disqualified and rejected for its material misrepresentations and Northwest Infrastructure should be awarded the RFP. Northwest Infrastructure will also be present for the May 20, 2020 board meeting call or meeting to continue its protest and to share my concerns with the board.

Written testimony: I am a working Property Master for film/TV, and digital media. I am also the Business Agent for IATSE Local 488, Studio Mechanics of the Pacific Northwest, representing the crew behind the camera on regional production of movies, tv/streaming series, commercials, PSAs and other digital media. I am also a Board Member of the Oregon Media Production Association (OMPA).

The Mayor's budget for 2020-2021 proposes completely defunding the Portland Film Office (PFO) without any conversation or input from the Portland Media Industry stakeholders or Entertainment Unions and Guilds. This is not simply a budget cut proposal, it would be a severe impact to the reopening and function of this important Portland industry.

Your proposed budget outlines the budget process (on page 15) that stakeholder input/involvement should have been a key part of the process :

"Public Involvement Process

The City engages in a proactive public outreach effort as part of the budget process. In order to ensure that all stakeholders were involved in the budget development process, bureaus were directed to continue with the Budget Advisory Committee (BAC) process that included management, labor, customers, and internal and external experts. These committees reviewed the bureaus' draft budget requests, and provided input on proposed decision packages."

We are fully aware that Portland like the entire nation is suffering severe financial shortfalls and a painful recovery process. However, eliminating the Portland Film Office will be a severe roadblock to our industry recovering. This is a one person office that hits hard above its weight, and its budget of $150k, to provide valuable work that is critical to smooth running productions. This is the key City office responsible for assisting the Portland Media Industry in navigating permits as well as Bureaus & Agencies.

The PFO is the agency through which media projects of all sizes receive permits for use of parks, public streets, and neighborhood locations, as well as the safe use of curb lanes for the parking of production equipment trucks and other transportation vehicles.

The PFO provides support for media industry projects and programs including: workforce development; safety initiatives; tracking/collection of local economic impact data; promotion of Portland as a film location destination which supports Portland's image regionally, nationally, and internationally.

The Portland Film Office is a collaboration of the Mayor's Office, Prosper Portland and dedicated resources within city bureaus, The PFO is appropriately housed within Prosper Portland, the city's economic development agency, because the Oregon Media Industry is an economic driver. Annually, Portland based movies, streaming series, commercials, video game development, and animation projects bring in over $200 million and provide thousands of living wage jobs with benefits for Oregonians (85% of crew, cast and production company staff are residents of the Portland Metro and Vancouver, WA).

Beyond the direct financial impact, the Media Industry is deeply interconnected with other industries pouring money into businesses such as: hospitality (hotels & restaurants), catering companies, equipment rentals, lumber yards/ hardware stores, fabric shops/apparel, fabrication companies, furniture companies, and more. The restarting of the Oregon Media Industry after Covid-19 will immediately bring increased and sustained cashflow to these Portland businesses thereby stimulating their resurgence, putting Portlanders back to work, and reopening our economy.

The Portland Film Office is a lean operation with only one full time staff person. And yet, because of its efficiency, this low cost agency is pivotal to the safe, smooth flow of permits and information between different City Bureaus/Agencies, and the media production companies. Without the PFO, producers and crew will have to navigate their way through different Bureaus and face delays for permits. This would assuredly double the turn around time and stymie the efficiency of media productions of every size.

The Media Industry is currently struggling with universal shut down of films, episodic series, commercials, and other projects. However the Portland based cast, crews, producers and others are poised to restart with great speed once it is safe to do so. Portland needs its Film Office to make sure this happens and the work comes back as quickly as possible.

The late Commissioner Nick Fish was one of the greatest advocates for the Portland Entertainment Industry and oversaw the Portland Film Office until his death. We cannot not let Nick's passion, vision, and labor for this office and the media industry be damaged by an uninformed choice by this Council.

Mr. Mayor and City Commissioners please have a conversation with industry stakeholders about funding the critically important piece of our Media Industry infrastructure!

Written testimony: Please do not let the Portland Film office get defunded. It is far too important to the growing film industry bringing in hundreds of millions of dollars and employing hundreds maybe even thousands of Oregonians every year. Our industry is already facing an uphill battle to reopen and defunding the film office that fields permits and applications can only hurt that effort, if not outright feed a collapse.

Written testimony: The Portland Film industry has been a vital source of revenue for our company and as a result, a vital source of income for many employees and their families. We have provided work for over 100 employees over the past 5 years in the Portland-metro area. A majority of those employees represent females and racial minorities. The film industry is changing nationwide as states like Louisiana and Georgia take up a greater and greater share of new productions. We are competing to draw productions to the State of Oregon and specifically the City of Portland. Have an office dedicated to the purpose of developing and serving this industry, which helps put and keep Portland on the map nationwide is indispensable. The work provided by these productions trickles down to other services we use to make it happen, fueling tax revenues for the city and state. NONE of those funds would enter Portland except for the work of those promoting the film industry from within. Our workers, their families and the vendors we pay all depend on future productions. Its a competitive market. We NEED the Portland Film Office!

Written testimony: Please include the Portland Film Office in the proposed budget. I just heard that this important piece of infrastructure may be lost, and that is a shame! As the owner of Digital One, an audio post production company competing with much larger companies in Los Angeles, keeping the Film Office open is important to me keeping my company open. I am also a property owner in the CBD and stand to be doubly hurt by the loss of business caused from the loss of the office. Written testimony: It appears leadership has cut the Film Office out of the next year's proposed fiscal budget.

Our local Film Offices support our community in more ways than most know. The health of the film industry helps Portland (and companies like our) to deliver world-class talent to world-class projects. They attract and support larger scale productions which feed our crews and their families, and elevates their skill sets which we get to utilize in our commercial productions. Our company Sockeye competes with creative agencies globally because of the quality of the talent at our disposal. The wages we pay are well above average. The film industry itself pays higher than average wages and is considered a green industry. Few industries can do both provide higher wages and do so without harming our environment.

We need to do what we can to keep the productions coming. The Film industry can be part of our local recovery!

Time is of the essence. Please join me in supporting our local film industry.

Written testimony: ABI Insurance provides production insurance and business insurance to many in the film, arts, entertainment and media community. Without Brian Lord in the film office guiding visitors and indigenous productions of all kinds through the city permitting process, and connecting resources for them, our local economy would lose a significant driver.

With lost productions, more small business owners will be forced to shut down, further depleting the city's revenue going forward long into the future as people will be forced to move to find work. Less tenants, less income tax, less business tax, less homeowners to pay property taxes that fund the city's vital programs. The same individuals and companies are also on the front line telling the stories as content creators and helping key industries and nonprofits fundraise to be able to continue offering essential services to populations in need, such as school children, the elderly, and other minority or underserved populations who are our focus right now as Covid-19 progresses through the population.

As an insurance advisor and risk management consultant, I can confirm that task forces have been convened in all facets of production to make sure people can return to work safely, adhering to stringent new guidelines. I have productions that are quoted for insurance, funded for production, and just waiting to ramp up again. Now is not the time to pull out. If they don't do it here, they will do it somewhere else, and once we get a reputation for being closed, it will be much harder to get that economic stimulus money and jobs back again. I would like to add my voices to those impacted by this potential decision, to ask you to please keep the funding at current levels, and not go backwards and risk losing the infrastructure we have worked so hard to build over the years. Our insurance agency is filled with essential workers eager to do their jobs helping clients weather this storm. Defunding the Portland Film Office would be like punching another hole in the dam and then just watching the money stream drain away. Please give us the opportunity to discuss options and develop stop gap funding to support the Portland Film Office.

Dear Mayor Wheeler, City Council and Prosper Portland,

We recognize the challenges you are all facing during this unprecedented time, and do not envy the kinds of decisions that need to be made. Nonetheless, my staff and I are speechless to learn that the Portland Film Office is not in the Mayor's proposed budget.

We believe this is a huge mistake. Coming out of COVID-19, our local film and video industry is part of the solution! And here's why:

- We create jobs FAST! A phone call today can turn into an entire film & video crew working tomorrow—not to mention a full cast of actors, and countless vendors, suppliers, and professional services. Our industry has an impressive multiplier effect, and we are all about JOBS.
- We are "Shutter-Ready"! Protocols for getting back to work have already been established. We know what we need to do to work safely. We're just waiting for the green light, and productions are looking to get underway soon!
- We'll jumpstart the hardest-hit industries right away. Whereas other consumers may still be reticent to go out and spend, our industry will have an immediate need for hotels, restaurants, retail stores, and rental cars, among other businesses.
- We'll reboot tourism. We create the content that attracts visitors to our city. When tourists see Portland on the screen—whether in a commercial, film or TV series—it makes them want to come visit. Once it's safe to start traveling again, let Portland capture all that pent-up tourism revenue with our great, locally-made content.
- Portland can be turned into a major production hub in a coronavirus world, if the City plays its cards right. As this article points out, until a vaccine becomes available, it will be too expensive to shoot in LA, New York, Chicago, or even Atlanta. Productions are going to be looking for more cost-effective (and less population-dense) locations. They'll also be shooting smaller projects using smaller crews, instead of big-budget blockbusters. Portland is ideal for this—and as we've all noticed, there's nothing like a pandemic to drive demand for content to an all-time high. Let's not close up shop just as demand is about to boom! Instead, let's aggressively pursue these jobs and become the next hub.
- We are an industry of the future—and we're lucrative. As we emerge from this crisis, we not only need to put money in people's pockets, we need to support the industries of tomorrow. Film and video productions—including virtual reality, video games, and animated content—offer clean, green, family-wage jobs that pay much higher than the state average. Some are high-tech and creative—appealing to our college grads—while others require tradespeople—like carpenters, electricians and truck drivers—earning union wages with benefits and overtime.
- We can't do all of this without our Portland Film Office. With just one full-time employee, our Film Office punches far above its weight. Portland's reputation as a film-friendly city will be permanently damaged without the services that this very small office provides. A single television series can drop upwards of $6M on our city in a matter of a few months—and that's just one production! This is far more than the very small budget of the Portland Film Office.
- More than three-quarters of Oregon's film and video production takes place in the Portland metro area. Our Film Office is vital to ensuring that our industry can get back to work. The City's return on investment is massive, and Portland can simply not afford to lose this vital resource. Having a Film Office tells the world that Portland is open for business. The last thing we want to do is to send the opposite message.

Before making any final decisions, please work with the Oregon Media Production Association and other industry stakeholders to find a solution to save this office. We have creative minds and are used to pulling rabbits out of hats. Let us be a part of Portland's recovery, and potentially massive future!

Sincerely,

LANA VEENKER

Written testimony: Hello,

I am writing today to advocate on behalf of the Portland Film Office. Please reconsider the decision to not include it in the upcoming budget. I am one of thousands of workers who rely on the productions that the PFO help bring in each year, and we've only seen them bring in more and more productions, which has brought in more and more money to city. Portland's reputation as a "film-friendly" city has only grown in that time, with more productions looking to set up shop here.

I understand that cuts need to be made at the City, but the Portland Film Office is an economic driver. A small investment in the office reaps large economic returns. Without its presence we may lose productions that otherwise would have brought jobs and spending to the city. To be clear, the Portland production industry will be a big part of the City's economic recovery. The City cannot afford to lose those opportunities right now at a time when your office is prioritizing fiscal resiliency and emphasizing small businesses support.

The third season of Hulu's Shrill, for instance, is looking to resume filming here this summer, right at the time the Portland Film Office would be shut down. In just a 3-month period, the second season of Shrill spent:

- + $5.6M on local payroll
- + $350,000 on hotel rooms, travel and meals
- + $240,000 on cars, taxis, parking (including $32,000 paid to the City of Portland in metered parking and permit fees)
- + $485,000 on locations and security

This is just one production and its economic impact. Shrill was originally set in Seattle but Oregon Film was able to convince the producers not only to film in Portland, but to set the actual story in here. This is because Portland is a great place to shoot and Producers know that. But that reputation—and all of that spending and employment—is based on Portland being a “film friendly” city, much of which comes from the Portland Film Office. It is vital. We can’t afford to lose it, especially right now, because we can’t afford to lose even a single production. Our reputation and ability to attract production and spending depends on having the Portland Film Office in place.

This industry creates living wage jobs for thousands of Oregonians. It also serves as an economic stimulus to other industries, including those hardest hit by the pandemic - hotels, car rentals, restaurants, retail and more. When production starts up again, it’ll immediately help jumpstart the city's economy with spending.

We already anticipate productions resuming in July/August and need the work of the Portland Film Office to service these productions and get Portlanders back to work. The film, television and commercial industry has developed protocols that will allow us to go back to work quickly, safely and consistently. We are organized and ready to work.

Let us not go backwards and risk losing the infrastructure we have built. Please protect the investment that’s been made and has made Portland recognized as a production center. Please allow the production industry to provide a stimulus to the Portland economy and help it snap back from this pandemic. Please give us the opportunity to discuss options and develop stop gap funding to support the Portland Film Office.

Thank you for all you are doing to support Portlanders during this incredibly challenging crisis. We look forward to discussing further and doing what we can to protect the media production industry, and our adjacent industries, here in Portland.

Written testimony: The Oregon Film Office is a vital driver of the film industry in Oregon.

As a home-grown small business producing films based in Oregon, I have personally witnessed the dedication and concrete, financial outcomes of the work of the Oregon Film Office. From episodic tv shows to a never-ending stream of feature films the Oregon Film Office is a key lynch-pin between out-of-state productions and filming in Oregon. Without the office, production companies of all sizes will suffer and it will take decades for our industry to recover. Now is the time to INVEST in small businesses and sole proprietorships in the creative industries. Divesting in the Oregon Film Office equates to sending production work to neighboring states.

Please invest in Oregon by continuing to invest in the proven economic success of the Oregon Film Office.

In thanks,

Written testimony: Dear Mayor Wheeler and Prosper Portland, Please consider the Portland Film Office and the local production industry in your budget this year. We were surprised to see that it was not included. It's an important economic stimulator and has a large trickle down effect for the city of portland and the State. Refer to the letter from Lisa Cicala of Oregon Media Production Association for more details. Thank you for your help in maintaining the local economy in this time. Mayor Ted Wheeler-

May, 10 2020

I am writing you to please reconsider closing the Portland Film Office. The Portland Film office is an essential component in the local production infrastructure. Without it, the permitting process will be delayed and all businesses will suffer. Not only will it be harder for the long form shows like feature films and episodic streaming to shoot in Portland, it will be even more difficult commercials and corporate videos. The permit turn around time is critical for these smaller productions who may scout just a couple days before shooting. I am afraid that the new permitting process will make this next to impossible. The production industry brings in a great deal of money to the area with crews renting hotels, eating in restaurants, renting cars, trucks, lighting equipment, camera equipment, talent, hair, make up, prop crews, catering, casting, editing, audio mixing, the list goes on and on. All of these departments which represent people will suffer with less production as a result of an unfunded Portland Film Office. I have seven employees locally, all making a living wage, able to purchase homes, cars, groceries and everything else. These jobs will come into jeopardy with the lose of the Portland Films Office.

An Idea floating out there is why don't we increase the permitting fees to make up for the funding of The Portland Film Office until we return to some normalcy. These increased fees will help fund the office and Portland will be in a better position to handle production and the permitting of production.

I understand that this is an extremely difficult time but we must save things that might not seem important on the outside but they are extremely important to retain our robust commercial, feature film and streaming industry.

Sincerely,

Michael Koerner

Mayor Wheeler,

I have just received notice that the Portland Film Office is not included in the city's budget in moving forward. I work in the industry - with the great people who work in the Film Office. While it is understandable that there is probably reasoning why this is so, the importance of what the OMPA does for the city of Portland and our great state of Oregon is, in my opinion, too important to not be a part of the city's upcoming budget.

The OMPA is instrumental in bringing jobs to people of Oregon and a constant revenue stream that can also greatly help in the recovery process of this pandemic time.

My whole life has been captivated and inspired by the 'moving image'. This is an important part of our lives. There are many people who work in the industry that have been doing so for the greater part of their lives. I believe that we can be a very vital part of bringing people information and inspiration moving forward. To not include the Portland Film Office in the budget is to not include the hard work of industry people, providing a wealth of value to the world.

I hope that you can reconsider including them.
Many thanks for your time and consideration. Thanks you for all that you do.

Written testimony: Dear Mayor Wheeler,

We learned on Friday that the Portland Film Office was not included in the City's budget going forward. We understand that cuts need to be made at the City, but the Portland Film Office is an economic driver. A small investment in the office reaps large economic returns. Without its presence we may lose productions that otherwise would have brought jobs and spending to the city. To be clear, the Portland production industry will be a big part of the City's economic recovery. The City cannot afford to lose those opportunities right now at a time when your office is prioritizing fiscal resiliency and emphasizing small businesses support.

The third season of Hulu's Shrill, for instance, is looking to resume filming here this summer, right at the time the Portland Film Office would be shut down. In just a 3-month period, the second season of Shrill spent:

$5.6M on local payroll

$350,000 on hotel rooms, travel and meals

$240,000 on cars, taxis, parking (including $32,000 paid to the City of Portland in metered parking and permit fees)

Written testimony: I was very upset to hear that the Portland Film Office is not included in this budget. My husband and I both depend on the motion picture industry in Portland for our livelihood. We are already out of work because of the public health measures and uncertain about how we will return to work in the future. This feels like we are being kicked while we are down, rather than being given a helping hand by our government to get back on our feet again. Written testimony: Hello,

I am writing in support of keeping the Portland Film Office open and funded. Portland's economy has definitely been boosted by the amount of work the film industry has brought to town, supporting the jobs of both 1000+ industry professionals, as well as the local businesses they patronize to buy materials, equipment, food, location rentals, etc. Everyone is already hurting enough due to the covid restrictions and eager to get back to work. It would be a shame to downsize those opportunities and impede the industry's ability to efficiently work with the city by de-funding the film office in the next budget cycle. Please support our livelihoods and keep our industry afloat!

Written testimony: Dear Mayor Wheeler and City Council,
My name is Ben Popp and I have been working in the film community for over 10 years now, both as an artist and professional. More recently however I had been working at a Non-Profit that works closely with independent filmmakers from the region. This put me in much closer proximity to the Portland Film Office and understanding what they do. It also let me better see and understand how cities such as Seattle not having a specific Film office can be a hinderance on not just productions coming into the city where younger filmmakers can gain experience, meet crews and learn on the job training, but also simply these up and coming and independent artists and filmmakers who need and utilize the services of a local film office to help them navigate the various bureaucracies that might be in their way for a film shoot. And these smaller or independent productions can very well be just as important as the larger ones such as Shrii, Grimm, Portlandia etc, as they are part of the incredible creative fabric of this great city we call home and showcase to the world who we are, the talents we might have, locations, scenery that in turn create tourism as people want to come here and spend money. Film and Television are two massive things that EVERYONE consumes, we all watch movies and tv, not everyone, sadly, goes to art galleries or dance performances for example, but they sure will sit on their couch or on the bus or in the park or wherever and watch a movie or a tv show. Now think of all of possibilities that come from that and how there is still so much in the way of productions, professional, independent and more that can happen here in the city, but unless we have a localized, city film office, it will become harder, or more obnoxious as people block off parking, or take over streets because they had no idea they needed to get a permit, or where to even to do that. Or if younger makers are looking to "BE" professional, they need to know the rules and those can be provided by the Portland Film Office.

Long story short, I very much urge you to re-consider cutting the Portland Film Office from the budget, I know times are tough, but when things start opening up again, filmmakers are going to start going out and filming and if there are rules put in place by the Governor for example that they need to follow, who will tell that to all of these smaller or larger productions? Who will keep them in the safe zone? Yes this is a hypothesis, but a good example because film is going to continue regardless, but the question is if you want it to continue on a level that is following guidelines and procedures, things are running smoothly and everyone is happy, or if folks just start going about willy nilly and wandering all over the place with their cameras/lights etc. The Portland Film Office helps keep all of these productions in tidy fashions so we everything runs more smoothly together and keeps Portland's face up on the screen for the world to see and admire and come and spend money in!

Sincerely and Respectfully Yours,

Ben Popp

Written testimony:

Dear, Mayor Wheeler.

It has come to my attention that the city is defunding the Portland Film Office in its upcoming budget. Given the current crisis the need to cut costs is obvious, but cutting the film office would be a mistake. Our industry creates hundreds of jobs in the Portland Metro area and brings millions of dollars into the state. The Portland Film Office is an integral part of bringing that work to the city. Portland has been a premier shooting location for the last decade thanks in no small part to the work of both the Portland Film Office and the State of Oregon Film Office.

Production dollars spent in Oregon stay in Oregon. I own a business that has seven employees. We provide rental equipment to all kinds of productions. Our success here is due to our ability to make things as easy as possible for our clients. I think that this is also a big part of the work of the film office. One stop permitting and having a liaison within the city go a long way to making it easy to shoot here. Productions come here because of the infrastructure that we have worked hard to build. Please help us to keep the momentum going.

While film production may seem superfluous in times like these, I would argue that it's more important now than ever. We are expecting production to ramp back up by the summer. These are real jobs and real dollars that will feed into the local economy. If we are going to get back to work, we will need the help of the Portland Film Office. Please reconsider your decision to cut it's funding. Thank you.

Written testimony: I am a producer of Virtual and Augmented Reality, and a board member of OMPA. The Portland Film office provides critical services to facilitate live production in the city, services we need in order to get back to work. The direct jobs, and knock on economic impact of those productions is well documented, and will be a critical piece of the return to economic activity for us, and for the city.

I want to reiterate the position that has been expressed by OMPA writ-large, specifically, that we understand that this crisis has, and will continue to create significant budget shortfalls in a time when need for services is rising.

We want to provide the living wage jobs that will help rebuild the tax base, what we need is a seat at the table. We know dollars are short, and we are ready and willing to work with the city to find creative ways to reduce the budget, and to find stop-gap funding. We want to be part of the solution.

This letter provides my testimony in support of keeping the Portland Film Office funded.

Most of my statement is in regards to being proactive and taking advantage of the opportunity that I believe Portland (and Oregon) is going to have in the future. I understand that on the surface filming may not be seen as a priority but it has the potential of helping multiple areas of the local economy get back on track. There is already an effort going on to attract filming to increase as soon as productions and crews are ready to go. Oregon has the unique position of being a great place to film with a very diverse location base. (we can look like lots of other places). We already KNOW many productions will be moving back to the US that were planning on filming in other countries, we already KNOW that Oregon did a better job with COVID cases than Georgia and Louisiana (where much production takes place) and Oregon is smaller and has lower density than NY, LA, Chicago etc...and productions are going to be looking for somewhere cleaner and less densely populated to film. In addition we are spreading the word that Portland is a road trip away from LA and could be a great solution to air travel for those BIG LA stars that don't want to fly. There WILL be an increased demand for places to shoot and Portland (and Oregon) needs to be ready! The film office is an integral part of that future-To spread the word attracting productions and then to service them. When they do come our local economy WILL benefit.

Please don't cut our nose off to spite our face.

Portland and Oregon film has been busy ramping up for our future and we have a great team formed between all of us (offices, OMPA, Unions etc...) that has been focused on economic growth for everyone that this industry supports locally. This is about our creative advertising industry, this is about our place in the WORLDWIDE scene as an animation hub, this is about our award winning, indie film scene, and about all of the arts, our tourism, our music scenes, our foodie scenes....everything that makes Portland special!

This office has an impact on our economy and residents and if funded can help us weather this storm and even help us increase production and local revenue. Please see the possibility.

Written testimony: I have worked in the film business in Portland since 2011. I feel that we have been given an opportunity to create a heritage of quality product coming out of the City, generating interest internationally in bringing productions to Portland. The reputation that we, as steadfast crew members, have developed for excellence, flexibility, and scenic beauty is in danger of being wiped away with a single budgetary misstep. We are still in the fledgling stages of industry here in Oregon, and while the tax benefits are appealing to producers from LA, we need all the support we can get from the City and the Mayor to complete the picture. Most of my income is derived from the film and tv industry, which, up to now, was thriving with steady growth in Oregon. It provided jobs and income to thousands of actors, film crew, producers, equipment rentals, agencies, etc. Oregon was getting the reputation of Hollywood of the Northwest. Written testimony: The Portland film office is critical to the luring of out of state filming into Portland. The loss of the film office and the business it draws here would crush my business, halving our revenues and mean laying off my working and breaking our lease. It'd be financially and personally ruinous for me.

Written testimony: I think it's vitally important to keep OMPA alive, because it brings film and TV production to Oregon, which brings jobs and dollars to Oregon. I've worked with OMPA as a producer, and they made my life a lot easier. They're doing that for every producer that comes into this state, and once COVID-19 passes, if OMPA isn't here, that work is going to go elsewhere. They provide information, referrals, logistics, and a sense of community to the production people here. They are an invaluable resource.

Written testimony: Dear Mayor Wheeler,
I understand that cuts need to be made, but any cuts that would deter any potential film, TV, or commercial productions from coming to Portland I believe to be a grave mistake. I'm sure by now you will have heard how shows like Shrii bring millions of dollars to the local economy. Not just in payroll for people in the industry, like me, but to my friends and other communities I'm involved with in Portland. A friend of mine who owns a bike rental company has profited from productions like Shrii. I have artist friends who do illustrations and design that have been commissioned to contribute to these shows and films. There are many more people and communities that feel the reach of these productions.
Not funding the Portland Film Office will have a much greater impact on recovering the economy, and the well being of Portland and Oregon businesses, than what little it would to keep it funded. I think this global pandemic serves as an apt metaphor for how closely everyone is connected. I hope you seriously reconsider your budget proposal not just for the sake of people like me in the industry, but for the sake of all Portlanders, because we all do better when we all do better.
Thank you for your consideration.

Written testimony: I have lived and worked in Oregon for 20 years. Having the Oregon Film Office as an advocate for the industry has made a tremendous difference in the quantity and quality of employment opportunities available to those of us who work in production. Not only does local film and television production provide thousands of jobs to artists and technicians in Oregon, but a single show can bring hundreds of thousands of dollars to local businesses including lodging, food and beverage, and transportation. Having shows and movies set here almost certainly contributes to travel dollars spent in Oregon. Please include funding for the Oregon Film Office in the next City budget. Thank you for your time.

Written testimony: The Portland Film Office is vital to the continued growth of the film industry in Oregon. The Portland Film Office facilitates new productions choosing to film here, and without those projects thousands of workers, including myself, may not be able to continue our careers in this industry. I have been working in the film industry in Oregon for five years, and the community and support we receive is paramount to our success. We need to maintain and grow that support, not cut it out of the budget. I know in these unprecedented times that money is tight, but the Film Office will be vital to the economic rebuilding once the pandemic is over. Please do not cut the Portland Film Office from the budget. Thank you for your time.

Written testimony: I am a member of local 488 working locally in the Portland film industry. I wish that you would reconsider funding the Portland film office. The office is an important institution that is key to bringing productions to Oregon that subsequently provides many jobs to locals and distributes millions of dollars throughout the community be it hotels, vendors, restaurants, ride services, individuals for property rentals and tourism from fans of the tv shows and movies filmed here. The income and livelihood of many people depend on this industry. Considering that everyone has been effected by the Covid19 shutdown across the country. It is the responsibility of local legislators in every state to help get everyone back to work as soon as it is safe too. If the film commission office is shut down it would stop many Oregonians from being able to return to there jobs. Thank you for your time, I know you have many hard decisions to make right now and I hope you make the right one here.

Written testimony: Dear Portland's Budget Committee:

I am a Portland-based professional Makeup Artist for film and television and I am writing to plead with you to include the Portland Film Office in this year's budget proposal. Without the PFO, many Oregonians will be out of work and will be forced to find work out of state. I am a Makeup Artist for the TBS series, CHAD (Season 1) which was about a month out of wrapping the season when Covid19 entered our lives. I am also a Makeup Artist on Shrii. The third season is set to begin this summer, and without the PFO, this production will most likely cease to exist in Portland.

We understand that cuts need to be made. But the Portland Film Office is an economic driver. A small investment in the office reaps large economic returns. Without its presence we may lose productions that otherwise would have brought jobs and spending to the city. The Portland production industry will be a big part of the City's economic recovery. The City cannot afford to lose those opportunities right now at a time when your office is prioritizing fiscal resiliency and emphasizing small business support.

The third season of Hulu's Shrii, for instance, is looking to resume filming here this summer - right at the time the Portland Film Office would be shut down. In just a 3-month period, the second season of Shrii spent:

$5.6M on local payroll

$350,000 on hotel rooms, travel and meals

$240,000 on cars, taxis, parking (including $32,000 paid to the City of Portland in metered parking and permit fees)

$485,000 on locations and security

This is just one production and its economic impact. Shrill was originally set in Seattle but Oregon Film was able to convince the producers not only to film in Portland, but to set the actual storyline here. This is because Portland is a great place to shoot and Producers know that. But that reputation—and all of that spending and employment—is based on Portland being a “film friendly” city, much of which comes from the Portland Film Office. It is vital. We can’t afford to lose it, especially right now, because we can’t afford to lose even a single production. Our reputation and ability to attract production and spending depends on having the Portland Film Office in place.

It is important to know that:

This industry creates living wage jobs for thousands of Oregonians.

This industry serves as an economic stimulus to other industries, including those hardest hit by the pandemic, like hotels, car rentals, restaurants, and retail. When production starts up again, it will immediately help jumpstart the city’s economy with spending.

The film, television, and commercial industry has developed production protocols that allow us to go back to work quickly, safely, and consistently. We are organized and ready to work.

We anticipate seeing productions resume in July/August and need the work of the Portland Film Office to service these productions and get Portlanders back to work.

Let us not go backwards and risk losing the infrastructure we have built. Please protect the investment that’s been made and has made Portland recognized as a production center. Please allow the production industry to provide a stimulus to the Portland economy and help it snap back from this pandemic. Please give us the opportunity to discuss options and develop stop-gap funding to support the Portland Film Office.

Thank you for all you are doing to support Portlanders during this incredibly challenging crisis. We look forward to further discussions and doing what we can to protect the media production industry and our adjacent industries here in Portland.

Sincerely,
~Anne Sellery

Written testimony: Hello. As a single mother, I rely on the income I receive from working in Portland's film & television production industry to support myself and my two children. The Portland film office is an invaluable component to helping bring more productions to Portland. When there aren't enough productions, there isn't enough work, and those of us who are newer in the industry are left without jobs. The film & television industry is figuring out how to come back during the pandemic, and as that happens, we need to bring more work here so that those of us who've been displaced have a show to return to. Please do not defund the Portland Film Office!

Without its presence we may lose productions that otherwise would have brought jobs and spending to the city. To be clear, the Portland production industry will be a big part of the City's economic recovery.

During this crisis, our products are being consumed in record amounts. We are an interconnected industry that relies on and exists due to our transactions with other industries. From day one of production, we spend money on airlines, lodging, restaurants, retail and more. Because of that, our industry will help other businesses and the City recover.

The City cannot afford to lose those opportunities right now at a time when your office is prioritizing fiscal resiliency and emphasizing small businesses support.

Written testimony: Hello - Thank you for providing leadership and service at this difficult time. I appreciate Prosper Portland service to our city.

I want Proper Portland to reconsider cutting the Portland Film Office. I'm amongst the many film workers making a living wage from this industry. I produce the shows Chad, Shrill and Documentary Now! and our payrolls are in the millions of dollars to the many workers who depend on this industry for their livelihood.

The Film industry has grown with the Portland Film Office. For example in 2005 our film industry had $10M in spending and that created 550 Jobs from 4 projects. 2019 we have spending of over $144M with 3000 jobs spread over 41 projects. That's pretty good ROI. Other highlights the biz requires little to no spending on supporting infrastructure!

Please work with our industry to preserve this office that does so much to enhance our industries reputation and drive these good family wage jobs.

Best,

David Cress 503/312-7182

Written testimony: Through more than a decade of service in the U.S. Navy, I was afforded two opportunities to visit the PacNorWest and more specifically the wonderful city of Portland. Straight away, I know this was where I wanted to spend the rest of my life and although it took several more years to finally be able to relocate here, it finally happened.

The one thing more than any other that made it possible for me to relocate my family to Oregon was the Media Production industry. Since our move in 2017 I have been busy working as a driver in Commercial and Television Production. I am now a union member able to earn a decent salary, pay above average taxes and rent and spend disposable and discretionary monies in the Portland market on dining out, hotels, local travel and entertainment.

My chosen industry is vital to Portland and Oregon at large and should be supported in earnest by the local community and ALL Elected Officials. Keep us working.

Written testimony: Please do not let the Portland Film office get defunded. It is far too important to the growing film industry bringing in hundreds of millions of dollars and employing hundreds maybe even thousands of Oregonians every year. Our industry is already facing an uphill battle to reopen and defunding the film office that fields permits and applications can only hurt that effort, if not outright feed a collapse.

Written testimony: Portland needs the Oregon Film Office. The office assists in bring productions, of all sizes, to the Portland and Multnomah County area. These productions spend millions of dollars on crews, hundreds of thousands of dollars on equipment, hotels, food and permits. The revenue cost of the film office is greatly over matched by the income.

The office is needed and often tips the scales in Portland's favor - just giving visiting producer/directors the warm feeling they need local support to make the decision to film here. A lot of other cities, counties and states have thought "the work will come anyway" and have lost millions of Revenue due to their hubris. Georgia has recently been the hot bed of film production, due to their tax back incentive program(s). A few years ago Louisiana had a large film infrastructure with incentive program(s) in place. They had millions of dollars being spent in their state each year, and decided to remove the programs. The productions left costing the state thousands of jobs and millions of revenue. They quickly replaced the incentives, but the damage was done and the infrastructure has not recovered.

We should find a way to keep developing programs. We don't need more taxes for programs that are cut. Identifying key elements that actually make a financial income difference is important for any group that intends to base their platform on spending money. We need to have an income, before we spend it on new programs.

Written testimony: Hello! My name is Tyler Tronson and I'm an Assistant Location Manager here in Portland, Oregon. I grew up in Southern Oregon and have spent the last 13 years living in Portland. During this time I have been working in film and have helped secure locations for many of our city's projects including Portlandia, Shrill and Trinkets. I absolutely love my job and it is my sole income. My role in locations allows me to see firsthand the impact film has in our community. We support so many local businesses and homeowners by using them as a location for these shows. And with every film location, there are lots of other support locations that are needed - like parking lots, nearby venues for lunch and places to hold background. Even though filming has happened in Portland for a while now, people are still very excited to be part of a project. I love working with the community to make this a memorable experience for them and also one that makes them some money! This industry is so important for a lot of Portlanders and a lot of work has been done to get it to where it is today. We feel lucky to be able to work in the city we all love and hope we can continue to do this. Shrill has signed on for a third season and we are all eager to get back to work on that once it is safe to do so. I hope you will see how important it is to keep the Portland Film office open. Thank you.

Written testimony: I've been working in the Portland film community for well over 20 years, and have witnessed the blossoming of the industry in its many forms over this period. The Portland Film Office is an essential part of the production process, and has proved a vital link in our successful evolution --initially to help get film projects here in the first place, then organizing and facilitating logistical aspects for shooting and location needs. This is an industry which directly impacts many, many local businesses in an expansive, positive way = several have actually thanked me in lean times for saving their businesses! That is what we need now, in this time of new financial crisis - a means to bolster our city and its inhabitants. The bang for buck ratio in this case is phenomenal.

Support and continuation of the PFO is support and continuation of jobs for hundreds of local film workers. The financial security of our families, the prospect of a steady stream of new creative projects, and sharing the wealth through productive relationships throughout the city - these are massively important things, worthy of preserving and promoting.

I implore you to reinstate the operating budget to the Portland Film Office; thank you.

Written testimony: Providing relief to the film industry in Oregon should be considered and executed. This is an industry I am both a part of and can attest to the importance of impact, monetarily, to our community. Our local brands growth on account of this industry is well worth the effort of relief. Not only is the revenue important to our workers, but also to the companies operating from Oregon who serve the entertainment industry. Our industry literally draws from so many other industries of commerce and allowing us to hurt more deeply during this pandemic is not the best choice for the aftermath. I fee that our industry could easily help strengthen our community as we begin to rebuild.

Written testimony: Dear Portland City Council,
My name is Lisa Ward and I am an Art Director with LA 800 and a Set Designer with IATSE Local 488. I am writing to urge you to include funding for the Portland Film Office in your budget. The film and television industry provides much needed jobs in our city and our region. These are good jobs in a creative industry that brings money to all sectors of our local economy. We should be investing MORE money in the film and television industry in Portland, not less. Keeping the Portland Film Office open in the coming year means keeping Portlanders employed!

Written testimony: The Portland Film Office has always been extremely supportive and an essential resource for me as a Producer. One recent example of when they were super helpful on my latest feature film, Clementine, was when they awarded us the Post Production Grant which allowed us to finally hire the sound mixer and sound designer we needed to complete the film in time for our world premiere at the Tribeca Film Festival in 2019!!!

Written testimony: In regard to the Portland Film Office: I am a technician that works in the film industry in Portland. Many times over the last decade I have been approached at work by producers who I would not normally have a reason to interact with, for them to express their delight with the Portland Film Office. The quality and responsiveness of service is not only what brought these people and their work to Portland in the first place, but a large part of what keeps these producers coming back over and over again. These producers create local jobs, and spend large amounts of money that is spread over a wide section of the economy. Without the film office we may see a large amount of work shift to states with better tax incentives, taking millions of dollars and hundreds of jobs out of Portland. Please continue to fund the Portland Film Office. It is a small investment that attracts a significant amount of business to the city, and has therefore played a large role in keeping myself and many others employed since its inception.

Written testimony: After Covid is over, what will remain are the stories. Film is the most powerful and economically lucrative medium for telling stories. The Portland Film Office is an important resource for the city and its vibrant and film industry whose potential is far from realized.

My name is Nili Yosha, and I am the executive director of Outside the Frame, an organization that trains homeless and marginalized youth in filmmaking.

The Portland Film Office has supported our organization and the cities homeless youth since our inception, with funding, and most recently, internship opportunities in industry jobs. We have plans to facilitate production assistant training sessions this fall. And more. Better to spend a bit of taxpayer money of teaching kids a profession than to support them as homeless adults for the rest of their lives.

Written testimony: My name is Danielle Eddington. I have been a worker in Portland's tv and film industry for over 10yrs. I choose to live here in Portland because we have a fabulous city, and a wonderful home to work in for film. Our industry has such a positive domino effect on our entire community- we use local talent behind and in front of the lens, we use local business and locations so much more than crews in other cities. When we go to a local business and or area to shoot, those business are making money by renting their location to us. Our crew frequents local vendors, restaurants and cafes wherever we are. We pay the city for permits wherever we are. We help Put Portland on the map for being a beautiful city full of good people, good businesses, and great hardworking film crews.

Our industry, like almost all others, have already taken a tremendous hit this year due to the pandemic. 98% of us have been out of work since early March, with no definite timeline of when we will be able to go back yet.

The Portland Film Office is an integral piece to making the film/television/commercial industry in Portland happen - an integral part of the process that helps keep hundreds of us employed, and able to continue living in, and contributing to this city.

Please revise the budget to include the Portland Film Office again so we may have the help needed to get us, and Portland back on its feet, and continue to be where we want and can live.

Hello

Attached are copies of the petition to the Mayor and Commissioners to fund the Portland Film Office.

One copy has the signatures and the other has comments attached.

As of right now 2,817 people have signed the petition.

Will I be on video in the meeting or is it audio only?

Recipient: Ted Wheeler, Amanda Fritz, Chloe Eudaly, Jo Ann Hardesty

Letter: Greetings,

Please Fund The Portland Film Office For 2020-2021.

This office is critical to the Digital Media Industry in Portland, serving as the liaison to City Bureaus and Agencies, providing permits, collaborating on workforce development, partnering on safety trainings and initiatives, and more. This office provides producers and production companies with a one stop shop for coordination of location needs including: park and city property access, police escorts, curb lane parking, and safe street closures.

Our industry stakeholders including the Entertainment Unions and Guilds, Production Companies, the Oregon Media Production Association, vendors to the industry, and The Portland Film Office itself were not consulted about the elimination of this Office.

The Portland Digital Media Industry provides thousands of Oregonians with living wage jobs with benefits. We are carpenters, set designers, property persons, locations managers, transportation drivers, painters, make up artists, hair stylists, set teachers, welders, medics, production office staff, accountants, set dressers,

While we understand the financial impacts of Covid 19 on our City, we must also recognize that ours is an industry which will help get Portland back on track. Locally produced movies, streaming media, animation, commercials, game development, AR/VR and other digital media have proven their benefits to Portland in the hundreds of millions of dollars in wages, benefits, and direct spending. These monies go into residents bank accounts as well as local businesses and industries like hospitality (restaurants & hotels), travel & tourism, equipment & vehicle rentals, furniture stores, antique and thrift stores, fabrication shops, grocery stores, florists & nurseries, lumber yards & hardware stores, and many more.

Please reconsider the current budget proposal and fully fund the Portland Film Office!

Roland Gauthier	Portland, OR	2020-05-11	"The Portland Film Office (PFO) plays a crucial role in making Portland, and Oregon as a whole, truly production-friendly. The PFO's work, in partnership with Oregon Film, OMPA, unions, and our production community, has made our industry what it is today: a huge generator of sustainable jobs and income for the state, many thriving small and medium size businesses, and worldwide recognition as a production hub, with many recognizable films, commercials and other productions create by Oregonians. Losing this key film agency at the heart of our city would be a HUGE step backward, hobbling our ability to produce films, tv shows and commercials in Oregon. We must preserve and support the work of the PFO to ensure we can come out of this crisis producing and securing MORE work in our great state, not less."

Phil LaFond	Portland, OR	2020-05-12	"My livelihood comes from film production. Alex Elizalde	Beaverton, OR	2020-05-12	"The film industry is important for many areas of creativity. Cutting the Film Office is irresponsible. Stop shutting down the arts!!"

Rocky Garrotto	Grants Pass, OR	2020-05-12	"I have worked in the Oregon Film industry for the past 20 years. The Portland Film Office is a invaluable commodity for the Oregon Film community."
Gary Kout	Ashland, OR	2020-05-12	"As a commercial and feature film producer that often considers Portland as a filming location, I know I can rely on the Portland Film Office to assist in location scouting, permitting, inter-departmental coordination, and overall support. It is an invaluable asset to the film economy of Portland, without which will cause the city of Portland to be less competitive against other cities vying for millions of dollars in film spending. Not only is there a practical value that the office brings, the inherent value is beyond calculation, underlying an industry that supports thousands of jobs, scores of film-economy businesses, and many other ancillary businesses."
Nicholas Davis	Portland, OR	2020-05-12	"During a time when media content is the main source of how people get informations, shutting down the Portland Film Office seems like a gross miscalculation that will bite Portland in the butt very soon. Don't do this. Portland needs more film resource, not less."
Garrett Brown	PORTLAND, OR	2020-05-12	"So many people I know contribute to the arts/culture of Portland. I know it may seem like saving money to cut the film office right now, but it will hurt Portland in the long run. Post virus, the office will help kickstart economic activity as soon as it is safe to do so"
Jill Long	US	2020-05-12	"We need to stand united as a film community and a creative community and with all residents of our state. It is known fact that film productions bring much-needed revenue to the state, so please don't cut us off at the knees now; we're just getting started. We need to be included in your budget.Please reconsider.We can cast you in a film as a background extra if you'd like - with COVID-19 precautions in place, of course!Seriously, there are so many talented people here in Portland; both on the cast and crew side, who need your support right now.Thank you for your support.Jill Murphy LongFilmmakerJML FILMS LLC"
Bruce Carter	Portland, OR	2020-05-12	"The vital organization that needs your help is the Portland Film Office..it may be axed should the Mayor's budget survive as is. A tad like not paying for a fishing boat, and then wondering why we have no fish. Filmmaking in Portland brings a lot of money to the economy, and additionally, paints our city in a great light. To paraphrase Jack Nicholson.."This would be a brutal cut"."
Carole Astley	Salem, OR	2020-05-12	"The film industry is so important to the state of Oregon. Films don't just come to the state without marketing, coordination and a lot of work to show producers and companies that Oregon is the ideal location. People come to see film locations for many years after a film is rehearsed so its good for tourism for so many cities too. Just look at the popularity of Goonies in Astoria and the North Coast as

I moved to Portland one year ago precisely because it combined a thriving film/TV community with the Pac NW way of life. Chris Berrie	Portland, OR	2020-05-12	"Portland based movies, streaming series, commercials, video games, and animation projects bring in over $200 million annually and provide thousands of living wage jobs with benefits for Oregonians. 85% of crew, cast and production company staff are residents of the Portland Metro and Vancouver, WA. Not to mention the income generated for peripheral businesses due to increased tourism revenues. The overhead for Portland film office is minuscule compared to the revenues it generates. Letter: Greetings,

Please Fund The Portland Film Office For 2020-2021.

This office is critical to the Digital Media Industry in Portland, serving as the liaison to City Bureaus and Agencies, providing permits, collaborating on workforce development, partnering on safety trainings and initiatives, and more. This office provides producers and production companies with a one stop shop for coordination of location needs including: park and city property access, police escorts, curb lane parking, and safe street closures.

Our industry stakeholders including the Entertainment Unions and Guilds, Production Companies, the Oregon Media Production Association, vendors to the industry, and The Portland Film Office itself were not consulted about the elimination of this Office.

The Portland Digital Media Industry provides thousands of Oregonians with living wage jobs with benefits. We are carpenters, set designers, property persons, locations managers, transportation drivers, painters, make up artists, hair stylists, set teachers, welders, medics, production office staff, accountants, set dressers,

While we understand the financial impacts of Covid 19 on our City, we must also recognize that ours is an industry which will help get Portland back on track. Locally produced movies, streaming media, animation, commercials, game development, AR/VR and other digital media have proven their benefits to Portland in the hundreds of millions of dollars in wages, benefits, and direct spending. These monies go into residents bank accounts as well as local businesses and industries like hospitality (restaurants & hotels), travel & tourism, equipment & vehicle rentals, furniture stores, antique and thrift stores, fabrication shops, grocery stores, florists & nurseries, lumber yards & hardware stores, and many more.

Please reconsider the current budget proposal and fully fund the Portland Film Office!
