Unsanctioned street camping has ruined this city. People need to either agree to camping in a sanctioned area, where they must remain clean and sober and can mandatorily start to receive mental health support and free training in the trades. If they want to stay, they need to get with societal norms, move to another state, or go to jail. We need to separate those who are really struggling and looking for a better life, from the drug addicts and thieves. Those with wrap sheets need to go to jail. Time for tough love, time to stop enabling. Time to provide the services that our tax dollars are paying for.
