

QUARTERLY REPORT – Q4 2015

Independent Police Review (IPR) – Citizen Review Committee (CRC)

NEW INVESTIGATORS, MANY APPEALS

by Derek Reinke, IPR Senior Management Analyst

IPR hired two complaint investigators over the past quarter, Deirdre Perez and Ramsey AlQaisi. These additions bring the total number of IPR Investigators to six, an all-time high.

Perez earned a Master’s Degree in Public Affairs from the University of Texas and is a fluent Spanish speaker. She also holds a Bachelor’s degree in International Relations and Geography from Florida International University. She comes to IPR with over seven years of work experience in state and local government (and some with non-profit organizations).

AlQaisi is a graduate of the State University of New York at Purchase College, where he studied Anthropology and Political Science. He worked with the City of New York Civilian Review Board where he conducted investigations in allegations of police misconduct. He also is a former investigator of unethical conduct, fraud, and corruption in New York City.

CRC had a very busy 4th quarter (and 2016 is off to a busy start) as a number of community member appeals have been filed recently. Each of the three regularly scheduled CRC meetings during the quarter featured some portion of a case file review or appeal. This streak continued into 2016 at the January meeting. A second CRC meeting has been scheduled for January and two more appeals are awaiting hearing dates.
