Don Dupay to Commissioner
Carmen Rubio
Oct 14 2021 11:57 PM

Commissioner Rubio, our city is under siege by gangs shooting at each other and endangering us all. I hear NOTHING from you about this murderous problem. Do you have any input? Do you have any ideas about what to do? Wheeler talks about it but has no idea what to do. Hardesty talks about it and ignores reality and offers NO solutions except ORANGE BARRELS. I want to hear your input on this. I want you to do something besides collect your fat pay check, enjoy your generous medical benefits and company car. Please get back to me.

I want to thank Commissioner Jo Ann Hardesty and Commissioner Carmen Rubio for championing the Pricing Options for Equitable Mobility Task Force (POEM) report at city council this week.

I'd also like to recognize and thank all of the bureau staff and the Mobility Task Force members for their dedication and engagement on this complex and difficult issue.

The findings in this report offer us a real opportunity to plan for and implement equitable mobility options that will meet the needs of our growing economy, residents, and climate.

I recognize that this has been an effort in the making now for more than two years and there is still a lot of work to be done—I look forward the seeing the implementation plan and recommendations next year.

Doug Hecker the city just announced it has a $65 million surplus, but somehow they think they need to gouge us for more taxes. Where will it end? And there's no accountability for how that money is spent. You'd think we'd get something in return, like a solution for homelessness and crime. Our city leaders hate cars and are trying to force us into using mass transit or riding a bike. Never mind that TriMet is not safe and people should avoid mass transit during a pandemic.

Why aren't those two reckless anti-Police, so-called leaders, who are most responsible for the ongoing epidemic of shootings resulting in murders and hundreds injured by unchecked gang violence, championing a way to stop it?..The only things they have championed is the destruction of Portland, (like their protesters/rioters did again last night) defunding and disbanding of critical public safety Police teams and making the city an unsafe and lawless city, people don't want to live in or visit anymore..Again: Disband the vulnerable, unarmed Park Rangers before they get killed and restore PPB's Gang Unit..

YOU ARE INVITED!

REMEMBERING is a collaborative effort created by and for Portland's Native Community in observance of #IndigenousPeoplesDay. This program fosters healing through food, storytelling, and a community weaving project.

Join us on Sunday, Oct. 10 and Monday, Oct. 11. The event will include intergenerational activities such as Native Storytelling by Shilo George and Lukas Angus, children's craft activities led by Miss Messy, and food prepared by Kayson's Catering.

The project's intent is to create a large community weaving, each strand representative of each person's interrelatedness within a larger whole. Weaving activities include two looms and multiple handheld individual looms - each in different stages of becoming and undoing to incorporate multiple processes towards a new and different future.

Materials will be provided, and participants are encouraged to bring small meaningful objects from home that can be woven into the public artwork. On one of the looms, participants are invited to unravel yarn from a weaving and then weave it onto smaller handheld looms; those smaller weavings will in turn be collected and stitched together in appreciation of each mini-weaving's unique character and texture.

An airdry clay beadmaking activity will be available for people to create personal beads for the weaving.

When: Sunday, Oct. 10 from 2 to 4pm and Monday, Oct. 11 from 6 to 8pm
Where: Friendly House, 1737 NW 26th St.

Register: Online registration
Please note that registration is preferred, but not required.
You can also email

frontdesk@fhpd.org or call 503-228-4391 to register. TriMet bus passes are available. We require all participants to wear masks while participating in the project.

This project was made possible by the "Community Healing through Art", an arts-focused, community-informed collective grieving and healing initiative. The initiative is led by our former Creative Laureate, Subashini Ganesan-Forbes, with support from the City Arts Program, Mayor Ted Wheeler's Office and Commissioner Carmen Rubio's office.

Press Release: Commissioner Hardesty
requests funding in Fall Budget
Monitoring Process to allow citywide
expansion of Portland Street Response

In late September, the Office of Commissioner Jo Ann Hardesty submitted a proposal for the upcoming Fall Budget Monitoring Process (Fall BMP) to add an additional $1,081,000 to the Portland Street Response (PSR) current adopted budget of $1.9 million, which would bring the total amount allocated to PSR to $2.9 million.

"Portland Street Response is not just a program - it's a rethinking of our entire first response system: from how calls are dispatched to ensuring we send the right first responder to the right call," said Commissioner Jo Ann Hardesty, who is spearheading Portland Street Response within Portland Fire & Rescue. "Yesterday we heard an independent evaluation from Portland State University's Homelessness Research and Action Collaborative that proved the value and success of the PSR pilot. I support PSU's strong recommendation to expand Portland Street Response and to keep PSR housed within Portland Fire & Rescue."

"With Portland Street Response, we're opening new avenues of care for people who have low or no access to the healthcare system," said Commissioner Carmen Rubio "And each response that provides vulnerable people with compassionate care at the moment they most need it builds a better first response system for all Portlanders."

<https://cdn-sm.pagefreezer.com/resources/08768a9fb3ded00545a0a28cada7fa3aa5599e03/b06db669a5e85a46fd0957312adf952e3e8074e7ae8df90e64abe17e04251351>

You can read the full PSU 6-month

evaluation of PSR online.

Tuesday's work session with Dr. Greg Townley of PSU where he presented his evaluation and recommendations for PSR moving forward can be watched online as well.

If passed as currently proposed, this budget amendment would allow Portland Street Response to respond citywide, 7 days per week, with the following coverage:

Monday - Thursday: 8am - 6pm (3 vans available)

Thursday - Sunday: 6pm - 3am (3 vans available)

Under this proposal, the projected timeline for when Portland Street Response will be able to provide this coverage is Spring of 2022. This lines up with when the Bureau of Emergency Communications (BOEC) will have set up the necessary infrastructure to dispatch PSR citywide.

This budget ask specifically requests the following full-time, limited term positions:

- 4 Crisis Medics*
- 2 Mental Health Crisis Clinician I's
- 2 Mental Health Crisis Clinician II's
- 3 Community Health Workers
- 2 Peer Support Specialists

*The crisis medic classification is currently in the process of creation - this decision package uses the Mental Health Crisis Clinician I job classification as a placeholder for budgeting purposes only.

of assistance."

"Based on the findings from the six-month program evaluation, I am supportive of Commissioner Hardesty's proposal to expand Portland Street Response citywide by March 2022," said Commissioner Mingus Mapps. "I am particularly encouraged by the program's impact on reducing police response to non-emergency and behavioral health calls. The budget proposal, if passed, will allocate just over a million additional dollars this year to allow Portland Street Response to ramp up responsibly and to serve the entire Portland community."

"The objective data and findings from Professor Greg Townley and his research team at Portland State University's Homelessness Research and Action Collaborative are both compelling and helpful," said Commissioner Dan Ryan. "I have always supported the idea of Portland Street Response and am excited for what comes next. Now that we have a roadmap of substantial and meaningful data, I am thrilled to work with my colleagues to expand PSR across the city."

"I appreciate that my colleagues have been meeting bi-weekly with the PSR team and participating in ride alongs over the last few months," said Commissioner Hardesty. "I know my office has been very responsive to their questions, concerns, and thoughts and I look forward to our continued work together to expand Portland Street Response. My office is currently working with Mayor Wheeler's office on an additional funding proposal as the program continues to expand."

Under the current collective bargaining agreement between the City of Portland and the Portland Police Association, Portland Street Response is limited to 6 total vans and cannot currently respond to 911 calls involving suicide or responding inside residences. The City of Portland is in the process of good faith bargaining over these issues.

The Portland City Council is scheduled to vote on Fall BMP proposals on Wednesday, October 27th. Press Release: Commissioner Hardesty requests funding in Fall Budget Monitoring Process to allow citywide expansion of Portland Street Response

"I am particularly encouraged by the program's impact on reducing police response to non-emergency and behavioral health calls. The budget proposal, if passed, will allocate just over a million additional dollars this year to allow Portland Street Response to ramp up responsibly and to serve the entire Portland community." "The objective data and findings from Professor Greg Townley and his research team at Portland State University's Homelessness Research and Action Collaborative are both compelling and helpful," said Commissioner Dan Ryan. "I have always supported the idea of Portland Street Response and am excited for what comes next. Now that we have a roadmap of substantial and meaningful data, I am thrilled to work with my colleagues to expand PSR across the city." "I appreciate that my colleagues have been meeting bi-weekly with the PSR team and participating in ride alongs over the last few months," said Commissioner Hardesty. "I know my office has been very responsive to their questions, concerns, and thoughts and I look forward to our continued work together to expand Portland Street Response. My office is currently working with Mayor Wheeler's office on an additional funding proposal as the program continues to expand." Under the current collective bargaining agreement between the City of Portland and the Portland Police Association, Portland Street Response is limited to 6 total vans and cannot currently respond to 911 calls involving suicide or responding inside residences. The City of Portland is in the process of good faith bargaining over these issues. The Portland City Council is scheduled to vote on Fall BMP proposals on Wednesday, October 27th.

That's money well spent, and connects people to services, unlike sweeping the homeless camps, which just makes people have to find a new place and exacerbates mental illness.

Portland will continue to have gun violence and crime if you and your colleagues don't fund the police ,Its really sad you trying to replace the officers, They should be out in the schools and in the community building relationships.I do think Portland response is great,but our Portland police are human beings too and they are understaffed working hard dealing with gun violence some are leaving their job because you city leaders give no support

Michelle Galindo we're all human beings, but not all of us are issued badges and guns. Without actual accountability and oversight, there's no way for the public to know which officers are good or bad or to be kept safe from their own police force. I'm thankful to Commissioner Hardesty for her years of advocacy for police reform and developing better alternatives for non-police situations as she did with Portland Street Response.

Jay Parasco Portland response is great but Joann hardesty needs to fund police and let them do their job to patrol Portland and stop the gun violence who would want to be a street response person with all the crime in Portland it's getting the crime and gun violence down and then getting street response out.

Michelle Galindo the PPB has funds. People are more than able to apply and get a job as a PPB officer right now if they have the desire to do so and meet the minimum qualifications. Understaffing isn't due to a lack of funding. Also, one of the purposes of the Portland Street Response team is to reduce the burden on the PPB who have been largely responsible for responding to these types of calls. So PSR is actually a big support for PPB officers. I agree that gun violence is a huge issue throughout the country right now and Portland is certainly experiencing a crisis in that regard. But there are other more effective and sustainable ways to reduce community violence that do not include police. Take a look at cvg.org (Cure Violence Global) if you want an idea of how to make meaningful change without defaulting to funding the police as the answer.

"Under the current collective bargaining agreement between the City of Portland and the Portland Police Association, Portland Street Response is limited to 6 total vans and cannot currently respond to 911 calls involving suicide or responding inside residences." So in other words, PSR can't respond to a large number of situations in which the policy's own proponents say it will improve racial equity in public safety. Why not solve that problem before throwing money at a program that can't scale? This will also do nothing to reduce the current wave of homicides in Portland that is outpacing national trends.

Mike Tracy it is clearly evidenced by your hesitancy to get vaccinated.

Echo Vanderkin again your stupidity goes to a new level.

Mike Tracy okay, Mike. Tell us what about my comment was stupid. Was it the part where probable cause is needed to search a vehicle, is it the part where a crime would need to be committed for there to be probable cause, or is it the part where the police are still responding to a crime, and not preventing a crime? Or is it that you are an idiotic, false-patriot, bootlicker?

Echo Vanderkin probable cause has been taken away by not allowing officers to pull people over unless it's a life threatening violation. You worship a pill popping crackhead that has done nothing but fail this city. Any time you want to call me a bootlicker to my face

If you come downtown to my hood, I'll make sure y'all have plenty of work to do, 'cause I'll call upon you whenever I see a Homeless in my Front Yard screaming and ranting to themselves. And because you don't have a Pathway to get them off the streets, you'll be seeing these people a lot. Get to know the local crazies who never bathe and pilfer through cars to stay high. I hear nothing from you about getting the police staffing up to 2021 levels, instead of the 1995 levels they are at now. And admit to the roll additional gang members have played, in the uptick of gun and drug violence and then use our police force to clean it up, as they have done in the past. Because you let your guard down and disbanded our GVRT, additional gang members headed to Portland. You enabled open season for the gang members. When there's no police to stop them, they flourish and cities pay a huge price.

Oh, look, a solution to the elected officials problem. I read this today.
To: Mayor Ted Wheeler Portland City Council
Fr: Citizen Dale Hardt
5326149@gmail.com
Dt: September 29, 2021
Re: Portland City Policy for Processing persons arrested by private citizens.
The Portland City Council defunded the Portland Police Department reducing it's ability to protect the citizens of Portland. This reduction in funding has lead to incidents where emergency police services are simply unavailable to address critical situations which endangers the lives or property of the Portland citizens. To insure the safety of our neighborhoods it will inevitably fall upon the citizens themselves to enforce the laws and ordinances of the City of Portland. The People of Oregon, in an effort to guarantee that the laws would ALWAYS be enforceable enacted the following Oregon Revised Statues: ORS 133.225
Arrest by private person
1) A private person may arrest another person for any crime committed in the presence of the private person if the private person has probable cause to believe the arrested person committed the crime. A private person making such an arrest shall, without unnecessary delay, take the arrested person before a magistrate or deliver the arrested person to a peace officer.
(2) In order to make the arrest a private person may use physical force as is justifiable under ORS 161.255 (Use of physical force by private person making citizen's arrest). [1973 c.836 §74]
In defunding the Portland Police Department the Portland City Council has endangered the lives and safety of the citizens. In order to restore the laws of the City of Portland the citizens themselves must accept responsibility as the City Council has called for the communities involvement and assistance in the safekeeping of the City of Portland. Commissioner Hardesty has placed the burden of restoring lawfulness to the community on the shoulders of the citizens. Therefore, I hereby request that the Portland City Council and The Mayor of Portland provide a clear policy for the implementation of the above laws. The laws regarding the power of the citizens to enforce city ordinances is clear and concise. The City Council must therefore provide a means for the arrested persons to be collected and processed. This must be done without delay as the citizens have said power at this time and have been called upon by the City Council to assume partial responsibility for the safekeeping of the City of Portland. In concluding I would like to point out a recent incident which will clearly indicate the need for immediate action: Driving home a citizen encountered a woman being aggressively harassed by two men. The citizen pulled safely off the roadway and ask if assistance was required. The woman yelled for the police to be called while fending off her assailants. The citizen made the call. It was not immediately answered. No help was available. The citizen dropped the phone and exited the vehicle to personally go to the woman's assistance. Fortunately the assailants opted to run. It could just as easily have turned critically violent. Is it the intent of the City Council to expect the citizens to sit idly by waiting for police assistance? As a Portland City resident I found I could not ignore the danger to the woman without attempting to offer aide. The City Council has placed the protection of the city on the shoulders of the citizens. Therefore a procedure must immediately be enacted to provide the citizens with the tools to perform their duties.

Press Release: Commissioner Hardesty
requests funding in Fall Budget
Monitoring Process to allow citywide
expansion of Portland Street Response

In late September, the Office of Commissioner Jo Ann Hardesty submitted a proposal for the upcoming Fall Budget Monitoring Process (Fall BMP) to add an additional $1,081,000 to the Portland Street Response (PSR) current adopted budget of $1.9 million, which would bring the total amount allocated to PSR to $2.9 million.

"Portland Street Response is not just a program - it's a rethinking of our entire first response system: from how calls are dispatched to ensuring we send the right first responder to the right call," said Commissioner Jo Ann Hardesty, who is spearheading Portland Street Response within Portland Fire & Rescue. "Yesterday we heard an independent evaluation from Portland State University's Homelessness Research and Action Collaborative that proved the value and success of the PSR pilot. I support PSU's strong recommendation to expand Portland Street Response and to keep PSR housed within Portland Fire & Rescue."

"With Portland Street Response, we're opening new avenues of care for people who have low or no access to the healthcare system," said Commissioner Carmen Rubio "And each response that provides vulnerable people with compassionate care at the moment they most need it builds a better first response system for all Portlanders."

<https://cdn-sm.pagefreezer.com/resources/08768a9fb3ded00545a0a28cada7fa3aa5599e03/b06db669a5e85a46fd0957312adf952e3e8074e7ae8df90e64abe17e04251351>

You can read the full PSU 6-month

evaluation of PSR online.

Tuesday's work session with Dr. Greg Townley of PSU where he presented his evaluation and recommendations for PSR moving forward can be watched online as well.

If passed as currently proposed, this budget amendment would allow Portland Street Response to respond citywide, 7 days per week, with the following coverage:

Monday - Thursday: 8am - 6pm (3 vans available)

Thursday - Sunday: 6pm - 3am (3 vans available)

Under this proposal, the projected timeline for when Portland Street Response will be able to provide this coverage is Spring of 2022. This lines up with when the Bureau of Emergency Communications (BOEC) will have set up the necessary infrastructure to dispatch PSR citywide.

This budget ask specifically requests the following full-time, limited term positions:

- 4 Crisis Medics*
- 2 Mental Health Crisis Clinician I's
- 2 Mental Health Crisis Clinician II's
- 3 Community Health Workers
- 2 Peer Support Specialists

*The crisis medic classification is currently in the process of creation - this decision package uses the Mental Health Crisis Clinician I job classification as a placeholder for budgeting purposes only.

"Based on the findings from the six-month program evaluation, I am supportive of Commissioner Hardesty's proposal to expand Portland Street Response citywide by March 2022," said Commissioner Mingus Mapps. "I am particularly encouraged by the program's impact on reducing police response to non-emergency and behavioral health calls. The budget proposal, if passed, will allocate just over a million additional dollars this year to allow Portland Street Response to ramp up responsibly and to serve the entire Portland community."

"The objective data and findings from Professor Greg Townley and his research team at Portland State University's Homelessness Research and Action Collaborative are both compelling and helpful," said Commissioner Dan Ryan. "I have always supported the idea of Portland Street Response and am excited for what comes next. Now that we have a roadmap of substantial and meaningful data, I am thrilled to work with my colleagues to expand PSR across the city."

"I appreciate that my colleagues have been meeting bi-weekly with the PSR team and participating in ride alongs over the last few months," said Commissioner Hardesty. "I know my office has been very responsive to their questions, concerns, and thoughts and I look forward to our continued work together to expand Portland Street Response. My office is currently working with Mayor Wheeler's office on an additional funding proposal as the program continues to expand."

Under the current collective bargaining agreement between the City of Portland and the Portland Police Association, Portland Street Response is limited to 6 total vans and cannot currently respond to 911 calls involving suicide or responding inside residences. The City of Portland is in the process of good faith bargaining over these issues.

The Portland City Council is scheduled to vote on Fall BMP proposals on Wednesday, October 27th. Press Release: Commissioner Hardesty requests funding in Fall Budget Monitoring Process to allow citywide expansion of Portland Street Response

That's money well spent, and connects people to services, unlike sweeping the homeless camps, which just makes people have to find a new place and exacerbates mental illness.

Ed Elder she doesn't take responsibility when residents are attacked, so I doubt it. I'm thinking in her mind she must think something along the lines of "this is something the city must experience"

Portland will continue to have gun violence and crime if you and your colleagues don't fund the police ,Its really sad you trying to replace the officers, They should be out in the schools and in the community building relationships.I do think Portland response is great,but our Portland police are human beings too and they are understaffed working hard dealing with gun violence some are leaving their job because you city leaders give no support

Michelle Galindo in their own words, officers are leaving their job because they can't have vehicle pursuits for low-level offenses, want "elimination of the City Council" and "elimination of ridiculous [sic] use-of-force reporting requirements." <https://www.koin.com/news/special-reports/ppb-officer-numbers-continue-to-drop-heres-why-some-say-theyre-leaving/>

Michelle Galindo we're all human beings, but not all of us are issued badges and guns. Without actual accountability and oversight, there's no way for the public to know which officers are good or bad or to be kept safe from their own police force. I'm thankful to Commissioner Hardesty for her years of advocacy for police reform and developing better alternatives for non-police situations as she did with Portland Street Response.

Jay Parasco Portland response is great but Joann hardesty needs to fund police and let them do their job to patrol Portland and stop the gun violence who would want to be a street response person with all the crime in Portland it's getting the crime and gun violence down and then getting street response out.

Michelle Galindo the PPB has funds. People are more than able to apply and get a job as a PPB officer right now if they have the desire to do so and meet the minimum qualifications. Understaffing isn't due to a lack of funding. Also, one of the purposes of the Portland Street Response team is to reduce the burden on the PPB who have been largely responsible for responding to these types of calls. So PSR is actually a big support for PPB officers. I agree that gun violence is a huge issue throughout the country right now and Portland is certainly experiencing a crisis in that regard. But there are other more effective and sustainable ways to reduce community violence that do not include police. Take a look at cvg.org (Cure Violence Global) if you want an idea of how to make meaningful change without defaulting to funding the police as the answer.

Portland will continue to have gun violence and crime if you and your colleagues don't fund the police ,Its really sad you trying to replace the officers, They should be out in the schools and in the community building relationships.I do think Portland response is great,but our Portland police are human beings too and they are understaffed working hard dealing with gun violence some are leaving their job because you city leaders give no support

Michelle Galindo in their own words, officers are leaving their job because they can't have vehicle pursuits for low-level offenses, want "elimination of the City Council" and "elimination of rediculous [sic] use-of-force reporting requirements." <https://www.koin.com/news/special-reports/ppb-officer-numbers-continue-to-drop-heres-why-some-say-theyre-leaving/>

Michelle Galindo we're all human beings, but not all of us are issued badges and guns. Without actual accountability and oversight, there's no way for the public to know which officers are good or bad or to be kept safe from their own police force. I'm thankful to Commissioner Hardesty for her years of advocacy for police reform and developing better alternatives for non-police situations as she did with Portland Street Response.

Jay Parasco Portland response is great but Joann hardesty needs to fund police and let them do their job to patrol Portland and stop the gun violence who would want to be a street response person with all the crime in Portland it's getting the crime and gun violence down and then getting street response out.

"Under the current collective bargaining agreement between the City of Portland and the Portland Police Association, Portland Street Response is limited to 6 total vans and cannot currently respond to 911 calls involving suicide or responding inside residences." So in other words, PSR can't respond to a large number of situations in which the policy's own proponents say it will improve racial equity in public safety. Why not solve that problem before throwing money at a program that can't scale? This will also do nothing to reduce the current wave of homicides in Portland that is outpacing national trends.

Mike Tracy now you are projecting.

Echo Vanderkin just telling the truth.
Sorry your feelings can't handle it.

Mike Tracy the "truth", or in reality, falsehoods.

To pull someone over and search a vehicle, you need probable cause. That means a crime has already been committed and the police are only responding, not preventing.

This mans death is on you, Ted Wheeler, Mike Schmidt and the rest of your ilk. You should be ashamed and embarrassed by the violence and destruction you have allowed to reign in Portland. You will stand before your maker one day and he will find you lacking. https://l.facebook.com/l.php?u=https%3A%2F%2Fwww.koin.com%2Fnews%2Fcrime%2Fjake-vasquez-family-silver-dollar-killing-press-conference-10062021%2F&h=AT1D30ASFXnJeTNWw7mwGZJQz4GjxnxC-X85jUZD2E1R9TCxic2_tdEg4MnLhX2cpkPQGPbRh6gkgK1Cw8cf2UqsqFPVnUDRWOU-PMMqBLnB29U6RbVYH5xca54e&s=1

If you come downtown to my hood, I'll make sure y'all have plenty of work to do, 'cause I'll call upon you whenever I see a Homeless in my Front Yard screaming and ranting to themselves. And because you don't have a Pathway to get them off the streets, you'll be seeing these people a lot. Get to know the local crazies who never bathe and pilfer through cars to stay high. You're doing the Lord's Work, my future colleague. Why end homelessness when we can just profit off them? Y'all's SOCIAL WORKERS needed a "Living Wage" right?

Brandon Michael Farley I wish we could post videos or pics to her page. A couple of days ago 2 dudes approached me, 2 different times wanting to know if I wanted any free hits of acid. One of them pulled a handful out of his backpack. So now they go around handing out LSD... hope y'all's kids aren't downtown, they just might come home with a few hits and tripping, straight to the ER. Shhhhh... I don't think anyone is supposed to know about this.

I hear nothing from you about getting the police staffing up to 2021 levels, instead of the 1995 levels they are at now. And admit to the roll additional gang members have played, in the uptick of gun and drug violence and then use our police force to clean it up, as they have done in the past. Because you let your guard down and disbanded our GVRT, additional gang members headed to Portland. You enabled open season for the gang members. When there's no police to stop them, they flourish and cities pay a huge price.

Re: Portland City Policy for Processing persons arrested by private citizens. The Portland City Council defunded the Portland Police Department reducing it's ability to protect the citizens of Portland. This reduction in funding has lead to incidents where emergency police services are simply unavailable to address critical situations which endangers the lives or property of the Portland citizens. To insure the safety of our neighborhoods it will inevitably fall upon the citizens themselves to enforce the laws and ordinances of the City of Portland. The People of Oregon, in an effort to guarantee that the laws would ALWAYS be enforceable enacted the following Oregon Revised Statues: ORS 133.225 Arrest by private person 1) A private person may arrest another person for any crime committed in the presence of the private person if the private person has probable cause to believe the arrested person committed the crime. A private person making such an arrest shall, without unnecessary delay, take the arrested person before a magistrate or deliver the arrested person to a peace officer. (2) In order to make the arrest a private person may use physical force as is justifiable under ORS 161.255 (Use of physical force by private person making citizen's arrest). [1973 c.836 §74] In defunding the Portland Police Department the Portland City Council has endangered the lives and safety of the citizens. In order to restore the laws of the City of Portland the citizens themselves must accept responsibility as the City Council has called for the communities involvement and assistance in the safekeeping of the City of Portland. Commissioner Hardesty has placed the burden of restoring lawfulness to the community on the shoulders of the citizens. Therefore, I hereby request that the Portland City Council and The Mayor of Portland provide a clear policy for the implementation of the above laws. The laws regarding the power of the citizens to enforce city ordinances is clear and concise. The City Council must therefore provide a means for the arrested persons to be collected and processed. This must be done without delay as the citizens have said power at this time and have been called upon by the City Council to assume partial responsibility for the safekeeping of the City of Portland. In concluding I would like to point out a recent incident which will clearly indicate the need for immediate action: Driving home a citizen encountered a woman being aggressively harassed by two men. The citizen pulled safely off the roadway and ask if assistance was required. The woman yelled for the police to be called while fending off her assailants. The citizen made the call. It was not immediately answered. No help was available. The citizen dropped the phone and exited the vehicle to personally go to the woman's assistance. Fortunately the assailants opted to run. It could just as easily have turned critically violent. Is it the intent of the City Council to expect the citizens to sit idly by waiting for police assistance? As a Portland City resident I found I could not ignore the danger to the woman without attempting to offer aide. The City Council has placed the protection of the city on the shoulders of the citizens. Therefore a procedure must immediately be enacted to provide the citizens with the tools to perform their duties.

(2) In order to make the arrest a private person may use physical force as is justifiable under ORS 161.255 (Use of physical force by private person making citizen's arrest). [1973 c.836 §74]
In defunding the Portland Police Department the Portland City Council has endangered the lives and safety of the citizens. In order to restore the laws of the City of Portland the citizens themselves must accept responsibility as the City Council has called for the communities involvement and assistance in the safekeeping of the City of Portland. Commissioner Hardesty has placed the burden of restoring lawfulness to the community on the shoulders of the citizens. Therefore, I hereby request that the Portland City Council and The Mayor of Portland provide a clear policy for the implementation of the above laws. The laws regarding the power of the citizens to enforce city ordinances is clear and concise. The City Council must therefore provide a means for the arrested persons to be collected and processed. This must be done without delay as the citizens have said power at this time and have been called upon by the City Council to assume partial responsibility for the safekeeping of the City of Portland. In concluding I would like to point out a recent incident which will clearly indicate the need for immediate action: Driving home a citizen encountered a woman being aggressively harassed by two men. The citizen pulled safely off the roadway and ask if assistance was required. The woman yelled for the police to be called while fending off her assailants. The citizen made the call. It was not immediately answered. No help was available. The citizen dropped the phone and exited the vehicle to personally go to the woman's assistance. Fortunately the assailants opted to run. It could just as easily have turned critically violent. Is it the intent of the City Council to expect the citizens to sit idly by waiting for police assistance? As a Portland City resident I found I could not ignore the danger to the woman without attempting to offer aide. The City Council has placed the protection of the city on the shoulders of the citizens. Therefore a procedure must immediately be enacted to provide the citizens with the tools to perform their duties.

Friends,

I am disheartened by the lack of true leadership in this city. I write in an effort to bring about clarity and compassion during a difficult time.

After hearing the confused questions and conclusions full of delusion brought on by our city council member Joann Hardesty and Mayor Ted Wheeler I feel compelled to speak out and bring what clarity I can to the muddy picture that was painted in the meeting on 9/14.

Before I speak my opinions and offer my truth I feel that it is paramount to share who I am.

I am a lifelong resident and have spent time in all sections of our city. I currently hold a Paramedic license but have discontinued my career in Emergency Medicine and have chosen to bring my talents to serve the public in a different way. I have no interest in holding office and no interest in serving an entity that profits off of the public. I am currently self employed and in the effort to bring transparency and reveal my own bias; I was previously employed by American Medical Response. It is impossible to not bring my own bias to this letter. I choose to speak my truth and let you take what you feel resonates.

Our systems are broken. All of them.

From on high our leadership has made many decrees and mandates that fail to address the gravest challenge we face. A faulty foundation. You cannot build a glass house on shifting sands and expect it not to crumble at some point.

During my time taking care of the sick and injured in this city I have been in many homes. Some well taken care of, some dilapidated and collapsed. Some dwellings that depending on your perspective- you may not even consider to be a home. I have treated people in tents, on freeways, trains, on boats, on planes. I have interacted with every major archetype and treated countless people of every type.

What I feel our leadership does not understand is that all of us are simply doing the best we can with what we are given. They have been dealing us a bad hand. Our government gave us a few nickels and dimes and told us to go back to the mines to die or starve. At this point everyone who works openly with the public is risking their lives on a daily basis. The science is clear.

Joann spoke during the meeting regarding American Medical Response not placing hands on people who are not consenting. She emphasized that the city has a contract with the private entity to take care of our sick and injured and transport them. What I did not hear from our leadership was compassion and understanding for our friends and heroes who have continued to place their lives on the line for us.

As I can not speak for American Medical Response, Dr.Jui- the medical director of multnomah county, or the Portland police; I will not. What can say is this- Our heroes are tired. They have been holding us up during this time of darkness. They have given us stability during the chaotic and dangerous night. And you are asking more of them. You are asking more of the very people who have sacrificed everything for us and continue to be assaulted and abused on a daily basis.

I can not do that.

I have worn a full uniform, body armor, a p100 respirator, goggles, two pairs of gloves, covered myself in tyvek (picture a sauna suit), hauled over 100 lbs of equipment up stairs, on a hot summer day, to do compression on someone to save them. I have poured out sweat from places my anatomy class did not prepare me to sweat from. I know what our friends and heroes are dealing with,

do you?

Paramedics receive minimal training to handle extreme circumstances. They are held to an impressively high standard and are often not given the tools to complete the tasks they are compelled to accomplish. A motto that is oft repeated; adapt and overcome.

I ask any council member who believes that our Emergency Medical Service heroes place themselves at additional risk to spend a full rotation shadowing any American Medical Response crew in Multnomah County.

Most work a rotating schedule; four twelve hour shifts. Four on, four off. They are not guaranteed any breaks. They are not guaranteed a warm meal. They are not guaranteed safety. They are often assaulted.
Most shifts I worked- I was in one form or another.

One friend was stabbed. The person who assaulted him is on the street.

If you are unwilling to ride with my friends, please reconsider your stance on this topic.

Sincerely,

Jacob Dodge Wilson

The strength of initiatives like the "Supporting Community Healing Through Art" project is really in the relationships and collaborative communities. I am humbled by the dedication, intentionality, and love that so many of Portland's artists, leaders, and community members are pouring into projects across our City. Thank you to Jeff Hawthorne, Stephanie Yao Long, and countless others in the City Arts Program and beyond who continue to allow me to shepherd this initiative and for being willing to be work on this important project. Thank you to Commissioner Carmen Rubio's Office, the Mayor's Office, Oregon Community Foundation, and the Miller Foundation for your continued support. Please learn more by clicking the link below.

ACTION: Send a quick thank you email to our Portland City leaders Commissioner Jo Ann Hardesty, Commissioner Carmen Rubio, Commissioner Dan Ryan, and Mayor Ted Wheeler for responding to #SB8 by dedicating $200,000 to the Northwest Abortion Access Fund. (And a note of disappointment re: Commissioner Mingus Mapps's no vote.)

What happened in Texas impacts all of us. Proud to see Portland step up, and hope to see other local leaders follow our city's leadership! (Who's next?!) #FundAbortion #abortionjustice #orpol

Send a quick thank you email to our Portland City Leaders Commissioner Jo Ann Hardesty, Commissioner Carmen Rubio, Commissioner Dan Ryan, and Mayor Ted Wheeler for responding to #SB8 with by dedicating $200,000 to the Northwest Abortion Access Fund. (And a note of disappointment in Commissioner Mingus Mapps's no vote.)

What happened in Texas impacts all of us. Proud to see Portland step up, and hope to see other local leaders follow our city's leadership! (Who's next?!)

Renaissance brought their chain saws today. This majestic 100 year old Doug Fir was the first of 12 trees that will be taken apart limb by limb to make room for 2 3,000 foot homes. Tomorrow their chain saws come for the 150 year old Douglas Fir Mother Tree.

Everything about this day and watching the first of many trees we have loved for years loudly torn apart and slowly die— was inexplicably violating. I actually felt my own limbs weak much of the day.

Today, the Portland City Council voted to allocate $200,000 to the Northwest Abortion Access Fund to ensure people have the financial, practical and emotional support to access abortion care. The measure also opposes Texas' Senate Bill 8 abortion ban and declares the city's support for reproductive healthcare access.

Portland is the first city in the nation to take action after the Supreme Court allowed Texas' radical and extreme abortion ban, Senate Bill 8, to go into effect, allowing private individuals to police and profit from infringing upon other people's bodily autonomy. Portland is also the third city across the country in recent years to grant municipal resources for abortion care and support, following New York City and Austin, Texas.

Thank you to Commissioner Jo Ann Hardesty, Commissioner Carmen Rubio, Commissioner Dan Ryan and Mayor Ted Wheeler for taking bold action in the face of relentless attacks. We hope other cities and states will follow!

The GOP is a #SuperSpreader
We thought #TrumpCare meant
#HealthCare, but now realizing it meant #KillTheBase ... and it works best on rurals over 45 with no college education!
As of Sept 13, "73.6% of Oregon adults have been at least partially vaccinated against COVID-19, indicating that perhaps only about 182,000 more adults may be willing to be vaccinated, based on the survey's

I sure wish PDX would stop hiring #KKKops from WA State, and I'm glad their records are finally public. Here's one of the bad apples up in WA State, representing their culture. Portland Police should be Ducks!!! Just say no to WA State applicants. Our own forcible rape rate is just below the nat'l avg, but WA's is above it. Maybe ours would improve if they stopped coming here. Plus I'll bet they'll less likely to be vaccinated (which we can't apparently enforce) or respect masks, science or our community standards & mandates. PORTLAND WELCOMES YOU!

#WelcomingWeek2021 kicks off today!

Meet Portlander Romeo Sosa.

Romeo immigrated from Guatemala. He speaks Maya K'iche' as his first language. "People who come to this country are like heroes. They have lived through very difficult things and a very difficult path. Coming to this country is not easy and breaking down all those barriers is also not that easy. [I want to say] welcome to everyone from different parts of the world. If no one has welcomed you, I welcome you. I know that many have not received you with open arms. On the contrary, they have tried to reject us, to stop us, and they did not want us to come to this country. It doesn't matter where you come from and it doesn't matter what color you are, your language. Here we are siblings, we are all humans, and we all have dreams."

PORTLAND WELCOMES YOU!
#WelcomingWeek2021 kicks off today!
Meet Portlander Romeo Sosa. Romeo immigrated from Guatemala. He speaks Maya K'iche' as his first language. "People who come to this country are like heroes. They have lived through very difficult things and a very difficult path. Coming to this country is not easy and breaking down all those barriers is also not that easy. [I want to say] welcome to everyone from different parts of the world. If no one has welcomed you, I welcome you. I know that many have not received you with open arms. On the contrary, they have tried to reject us, to stop us, and they did not want us to come to this country. It doesn't matter where you come from and it doesn't matter what color you are, your language. Here we are siblings, we are all humans, and we all have dreams." See his video, and 11 other immigrant and refugee stories. __PF:446f1344e8c2dc55fca9

When are Portland officials going to HONESTLY address the shocking increase of POC losing their lives to gun violence in Portland? I mean, it's been happening on a very regular basis for over the past freaking year! As you all WAKWE EVERY DAY AND CHOOSE TO ALLOW THE VIOLENCE TO GO ON!! Wake up and do your damn jobs!! DILF!!

Today's decision to deny the request from Zenith Energy to issue a Land Use Compatibility Statement reaffirms the City of Portland's commitment to pursuing a clean energy future, addressing climate change and reducing our dependence on fossil fuels.

Additional actions to further restrict the operations of fossil fuel terminals within Portland are expected to come to the City Council for its consideration in the coming months.

Read a statement from Commissioner Carmen Rubio to learn more about future actions that will move the city away from fossil fuels: <https://bit.ly/2WzVteV>

Why is it legal for armed terrorists from WA State to cross state lines to hunt our community members?
Why is it legal for Tiny Toetse to continue to lead racist attacks here. I had to change bus stops to avoid him once. He's scary AF.

Wouldn't it be nice if our Portland Police Bureau would step up this time & side with our community anti-Fascists (ANTIFA) instead of the out-of-state Fascists (Proud Boys)? Our kids & grandkids wouldn't have had to do the job if #TearGasTeddy's goons hadn't consistently taken the side of #Seditionists & #Racists

#FundEMTs
#DefundBadApples

Where were the #GoodApples this past decade while #Terrorists regularly crossed the border heavily armed to hunt us? Why should we expect the #RRT to suddenly function properly now? They scroll their phones in training classes.

These days and weeks continue to be extremely difficult across our nation and our world. I can say with great humility and gratitude that the work I am doing through the "Supporting Community Healing with Art" initiative is keeping me grounded in love, activism, and art-centered community work. I had a great time at the opening of the Ankeny West food cart pod with Friends of Green Loop, Commissioner Jo Ann Hardesty, Commissioner Carmen Rubio, and many other. Truly a great day and an honor to welcome back our displaced small business owners!

Starting this evening, the City of Portland is hosting a weekend-long celebration for the reopening of the city.

Over 20 events are being held across downtown to highlight restaurants, food carts, shops, art, and music.

One of the events I'm especially looking forward to is the grand opening of the Cart Blocks tomorrow at 1:30pm on SW Park and W Burnside.

The new pod as shown in an artist's rendering below, will feature over 20 food carts including Drunken Noodle, Baghdad Iraqi Grill, Emame's Ethiopian, and Shish Kabob.

I'm happy to see all these vendors find a new location after being displaced from the former food cart location two years ago, and can't wait to try out their incredible food this summer!

To find a list of all the events happening this weekend, click here: <https://tinyurl.com/PDXReopening>.

But if you remember my earlier post, the COVID pandemic is not over yet, and we all still need to be cautious at crowded events. Unvaccinated individuals should remain masked indoors, and if you are visiting a particularly crowded venue, I recommend wearing a mask inside even if you are vaccinated.

Stay safe this weekend and enjoy some downtown fun!

What are you doing to find a solution on the horrible situation on Marine Drive? As residents we are constantly contacting whomever we can to get answers. Nothing... no responses, no actions. We deserve to have our beautiful river back. We can't even use the bike paths for fear of being attacked or run over by cars using the bike path for their own person roadway: DO SOMETHING...WE ARE WE SICK AND TIRED OF YOUR FAILURE TO ACT.

We have exciting news! Last week, our team had the opportunity to share deeply about the work of RACC with Mayor Wheeler and City Commissioners in a public City Council meeting. In collaboration with Commissioner Carmen Rubio and City Arts Program Manager Jeff Hawthorne, we pitched a plan to secure the work of RACC with support and investment from the city for the next three years. As Commissioner Rubio stated: "Arts are part of our DNA as a city. The last six months have made crystal clear that arts organizations are essential."

The proposal was supported unanimously by Mayor Wheeler and City Council - an unprecedented commitment to the arts in this region.

You were there with us. In your stories, in your work, in your words, you were present. It is a privilege to carry the stories of so many artists and arts organizations, and we're thrilled by the opportunity to continue supporting this creative community. We're moving forward with intentionality and we're listening; what do YOU need?

Portland is open for business! This Wednesday, City Council unanimously approved an emergency ordinance to assist businesses and service providers in our recovery from the COVID-19 pandemic. The ordinance temporarily relaxes some City zoning regulations—from allowing businesses to conduct operations in parking lots to preserving artwork on our streets to expanding occupancy opportunities for home businesses—in order to support flexible business practices and give Portlanders more tools to survive and thrive.

I want to thank Commissioner Carmen Rubio, Commissioner Jo Ann Hardesty, and Commissioner Mingus Mapps for your collaboration and support! We took the time to get this right and never lost sight of our focus on equity, and I appreciate your willingness to work together on behalf of all Portlanders. And thank you to Bureau of Development Services (City of Portland) Director Rebecca Esau and your team for your leadership and hard work moving this forward.

Improving our permitting process remains a top priority for my office, and I expect to share additional innovations in permitting soon. For now, I encourage all business owners to take advantage of these updated regulations and apply for Bureau of Development Services (City of Portland) permits through the link below:

My husband and I's business would thrive more if your employees weren't constantly on vacation and if the permitting process wasn't so difficult. Looking forward to seeing the permitting process improve. It needs an overhaul. We've tried contacting your office for assistance but unfortunately they aren't as responsive or helpful as Commissioner Fish's staff was.

Glenn Raschke Some of us are boycotting most of downtown due to the greed and wanton excess of the Pearl, South Macadam, and Sylvan. East Bank Grand Avenue, Martin Luther King Blvd, and outer east is the new hub.

Great job and I have a suggestion: keep hyping up and promoting Portland's upcoming festival to celebrate the reopening of downtown at the end of this month. Seattle is doing something similar and they are advertising their festivities to the max whereas I am not seeing as much promotional material here. Time to let the world know Portland is serious about reopening and moving forward. Thanks. <https://hereforportland.com/welcomeback>

So grateful to be a part of this initiative that I strongly believe is supporting and/or bringing some beautiful and impactful community healing art projects to life, here in the City of Portland. Please take a few moments to read the list of events that are being funded (and have been supported) by the City's "Supporting Community Healing with Art" initiative. Stay tuned for more details on what attendance looks like for these arts-focused, community-centered, and community-informed events - I hope many of my friends are able to experience and/or support as many of these projects. So blessed to be working with so many amazing colleagues including Jeff Hawthorne (City Arts Manager), Mona Schwartz (from Commissioner Carmen Rubio's office), Samuel Diaz (from Mayor's office), our community panelists, and so many more....

Haphazardly trained & actually required to have lower IQs, the #PortlandPoliceAssociation -- the union that represents officers of the Portland Police Bureau (the commuters who constantly whine about being overworked & fearing for their lives) -- jockey to maintain their tight control over our smarter & more competent EMTs at #PortlandStreetResponse as they brook no interference, no competition, no regulation, no observation of their rampant brutality the Feds prosecuted but cannot control. Police have become #Violent, #NonCompliant and RUN OUR TOWN.

Not the Mayor.

Not the Council.

Not the Community.

"PSR needed the union's approval because its teams would be taking calls typically handled by sworn police officers--and a deal reached last summer says the union retains bargaining rights over the program's expansion. In other words, PPA can reject encroachments by PSR onto its turf.

The PPA's denial means that, for now, Portland Street Response cannot be dispatched on calls to private residences like a house, hotel room or any other "non-publicly accessible space," including many shelter settings."

Daryl Turner, executive director of the PPA, says the police union is aware of a desire among Portlanders for law enforcement and social services to work in tandem, but he cautioned against a "piecemeal" approach. 'Portlanders have sent a clear message that they want both robust policing and social services to work together to meet the community's needs," Turner tells WW. "The city must come up with a comprehensive plan to achieve this goal. A piecemeal approach like the city wants to take is counterproductive and will fail from its inception."

By "in tandem," Daryl means first on scene controls the scene, allowing them to torture without EMT interference. That's why you often see EMTs helplessly standing by when a cop kills someone, or with their backs to a crowd of writhing tear-gassed community members who are being punished for their disrespect & having their 1st amendment rights trampled. We see it over & over again, like the time Greg McKelvey & crew were brutally ejected from Council inspiring Hardesty to run for her current seat on Council.

I hope Chloe Eudaly Portland City Commissioner (former) is readying herself to run for Mayor.

And this time Hardesty had best support her.
