There’s a collective, deep sense of loss for what this city could have been had the flood not happened or, more importantly, if leaders had valued the community. We take a small step in honoring Vanport’s value, & in reminding ourselves to value all our communities, by this name. twitter.com/PortlandGov/st…

For the mid-term, I supported an additional program to temporarily rehire retired officers. And for the longer term, I supported two studies that will look at staffing levels to make sure we have the right number of officers, and different kinds of officers, for our city.

Using deadly force is always a significant decision & I’m eager to learn more about how the officer made that decision. As I’ve been consistently saying, I support @PortlandPpolice doing the recruitment it needs to immediately fill all vacancies–& that work should be happening now

It also reminds us that prosecutions are only as effective as our laws allow, so we need to continue to advocate for better statutory tools to hold people who commit them accountable. As we move toward this goal of justice, we should reflect on today as an important step forward.

In #NativeAmericanHeritageMonth, we recognize the region’s Indigenous communities. Often, those contributions get lost w/in our region's white-colonial-settler narrative, & we have left unacknowledged that @PortlandGov was—IS—home to Indigenous communities long before pioneers. pic.twitter.com/asMjiDaJ5i
