

OPERATION OF PUBLIC AUDITORIUM AS EXISTS IN RELATION TO PROPOSED NEW FACILITY

If the two operations were combined under the same controlling authority it would provide an opportunity to coordinate events and personnel of the two facilities.

There are very few functions now carried on in the Auditorium of the nature that would make them more suited for the larger facility and therefore it could not be anticipated that the use or income of the Auditorium would drop appreciably.

By the same token the expense side of the ledger would remain about the same, but with the possibility that of the four permanent janitors now on the auditorium staff at least two could be utilized to a considerable degree for the operation of the arena facility.

It would seem, therefore, that the financial operation of the auditorium will not be appreciably affected by having both facilities under the same controlling body, and that the biggest advantage lies in being able to coordinate events and usage of the two facilities to give maximum service and benefits to the community.

Alden F. Krieg 7/27/55