Memorandum of Understanding

Between

The American Red Cross

and

City of Portland, Oregon

American Red Cross

I. Purpose

The purpose of this Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) is to define a working relationship between The American Red Cross (hereinafter "Red Cross") and City of Portland Bureau of Emergency Management (hereinafter "City"), in preparing for and responding to emergencies. This MOU provides the broad framework for cooperation and support between the Red Cross and the City in assisting individuals and families who have been impacted by an emergency and providing other humanitarian services.

II. Parties

A. City of Portland

In the event of an emergency or disaster, Portland City Code (PCC) sets forth regulations intended to reduce the risk of the City to loss of life, injury to persons, property and the environment in order to decrease human suffering and financial loss. The City's Comprehensive Emergency Management Plan specifies the purpose, organization, responsibilities and facilities of the agencies and officials of the City in the mitigation of, preparation for, response to, and recovery from emergencies and disasters. "Emergency" is defined in PCC 3.124.010 (C) and 15.04.030.

If the conditions of an emergency situation overwhelm the City's resources and/or support, the Mayor or Mayor's successor may declare by proclamation a State of Emergency. The State of Emergency allows the City to request support from other agencies, jurisdictions and municipalities beyond that which is normally provided. The conditions under which a State of Emergency may be declared are defined by PCC 15.04.040.

B. American Red Cross

1. Services for people affected by emergencies

Founded in 1881, the Red Cross is the nation's premier emergency response organization. As part of a worldwide movement that offers neutral and impartial humanitarian care, the Red Cross is a community-based organization that mobilizes people to aid victims of emergencies with the aim of preventing and relieving suffering. The Red Cross is closely integrated into community response efforts, including the efforts of federal, state and local government and non-governmental organizations. The Red Cross works with all partners to lead a well-integrated, effective and efficient response to every emergency.

The Red Cross provides services without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, gender, age, disability, sexual orientation, citizenship or veteran status. It follows the Fundamental Principles of the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement.

Following an emergency, whether natural or human-made, the Red Cross may provide some or all of the following services:

Food, Shelter and Emergency Supplies

During an emergency, the first priority is to ensure that people have a safe place to stay, food and emergency supplies. Red Cross works with government and community partners to open shelters where residents will find comfort with a hot meal, recovery information and a place to rest. For emergency workers and people returning to their homes, the Red Cross mobilizes emergency response vehicles from which workers distribute food, water and essential clean-up items that might not be immediately available in the community

Welfare Information

Emergencies often disrupt regular communication channels and can separate families. Through the Red Cross' nationwide network of chapters, family members may request welfare information regarding their loved ones. The Red Cross "Safe and Well" website enables people within a disaster area to let their families and friends outside of the affected region know that they are all right. Clients register on Safe and Well at www.redcross.org/safeandwell. During large-scale emergencies, individuals without internet access can call 1-800-RED-CROSS to register.

Client Casework and Recovery Planning and Assistance

Red Cross provides individual client services through casework people with emergency-related needs, with particular attention to those who have experienced significant damage or loss of their homes. This casework process helps the worker to assess the client's immediate needs, and connect the client with items, financial assistance and referrals to local resources to meet those needs. The caseworker also engages the client in a brief planning process which can help identify action steps for the client to follow in the first few days or weeks after an emergency. Red Cross caseworkers protect client confidentiality and work closely with other organizations and groups to ensure clients have access to all available resources.

Emergency Health and Mental Health Services

After an emergency, injuries can ensue, essential prescription medicines lost and the shock and stress of sudden loss can overwhelm a person's normal coping skills. The Red Cross deploys licensed health and mental health professionals who are trained and equipped to provide assistance at the time of an emergency. Emergency health services professionals can provide emergency first aid and medical assessment, triage and replacement of emergency medications with item distribution, financial assistance or referrals to community partners. Emergency mental health professionals provide mental health assessments, crisis intervention and a sympathetic ear to those in need.

2. Services related to the National Response Framework

The Red Cross is a co-lead for the mass care component of Emergency Support

Function #6 of the National Response Framework. In this role, the Red Cross engages in a variety of activities to support state and local governments in their planning, coordinating and executing of mass care programs and strategies. The Red Cross also takes a leadership role in working with other non-governmental organizations and private companies that provide services during an emergency.

3. Organization

The Red Cross is a single corporation, chartered by the United States Congress to provide humanitarian services. Its national headquarters, located in Washington, D.C., is responsible for implementing policies and procedures that govern Red Cross activities and provides administrative and technical oversight and guidance to the chartered units, which include chapters and blood services regions. Each chapter has certain authority and responsibility for carrying out Red Cross preparedness and response activities, delivering local Red Cross services, and meeting corporate obligations within the territorial jurisdiction assigned to it. Each chapter is familiar with the hazards of the locality and surveys local resources for personnel, equipment, supplies, transportation, emergency communications and facilities available for emergency relief. The chapter also formulates cooperative plans and procedures with local government agencies and private organizations for relief activities should an emergency occur.

Through its nationwide organization, the Red Cross coordinates its total resources for use in large emergencies. In order to provide these services, the Red Cross may call on the federal, state or local government for assistance when voluntary contributions are not sufficient to meet community needs.

III. Cooperative Actions

The Red Cross and the City will coordinate their respective emergency relief activities to maximize services to the community and avoid duplication of efforts in the following ways:

1. Maintain close coordination, liaison and support at all levels with conferences, meetings, and other means of communication. request of the City, provide liaison personnel to the City's Emergency Coordination Center. The City will provide work space and, whenever possible, other required support, such as a computer, e-mail access and a designated phone line for the Red Cross liaison personnel assigned to the Emergency Coordination Center.
