To hear about the proposal to continue to have no limits on building heights is beyond comprehension. Haven't you destroyed Portland enough? You have completely ruined the Pearl with the clumsy structures you have put up by incompetent designers and developers. Those tributes to the people who had no concept of how to plan a city will live for the next hundred years to persecute the senses of generations to come. So much damage is done that only a national disaster could bring things back to normal, horrible thought that it is. No traffic planning is done as to how to deal with all this growth. Or ways to provide the necessary facilities to accommodate the increased population. We are in the hands of morons.
