> Subject: Vote No on the Zoning Code Amendment for Hazardous Substances in the Environmental Overlay Zone

> To the Commissioners:

> I have been active in the environmental movement since the 1960s, and aware of the beauty and grandeur of Nature and her environmental problems since I was a small child. Currently and for the past several years I have become aware of, and fighting against fracking. I am involved in the Community Rights Movement nationally and locally, and am learning more and more about the dangers fracking poses to local communities. It is my understanding that the propane that Pembina proposes to export from Terminal 6 is extracted by means of fracking.

> As a Portlander, an Oregonian, and a citizen of this planet, I do not want to support any project that benefits monetarily (or any other > reason) from the process of fracking.

> The Portland Planning and Sustainability Commission has received a letter from David Sweet which also is opposing the proposed Pembina Marina Terminals. I agree with what he says, and I quote him briefly and concur.

> Like David Sweet, I too "have grave concerns about the proposal by Pembina Marine Terminals to build and operate a propane terminal at Port of Portland Terminal 6. While I consider it a bad precedent to loosen the regulations for the Environmental Conservation overlay zone to facilitate a single project, my primary objection regards the amount of greenhouse gases (GHGs) this project would cause to be released into the atmosphere and its concomitant contribution to climate change.

> "Portland has been recognized nationally and internationally for our work to control greenhouse gas emissions. Approval of the proposed Zoning Code amendment to make way for a propane export terminal would be a giant step backward. It would negate the important work that our citizens and our government have done to reduce our contribution to climate change. It would shift us from modeling solutions to being just another part of the problem. I urge you to vote 'no' on the amendment" > to weaken our environmental standards.
