Enclosed are Excerpts from OCT Bulletin 65 that indicate FCC requirements for an applicant to substantiate compliance with radiation requirements. The bulletin allows the approval authority to request substantiation if the applicant requests a blanket exception for approval. Further, the authority can raise questions about compliance directly with the FCC safety group (1 202 418 2464).

I have reviewed Bulletin 65 and have the following questions. Radiation is measured by elevation below the antenna level. This results in FCC regulations for requiring antenna heights above the ground. Where the antenna is located on a hillside in close proximity (front yards) to multistory homes in a residential neighborhood, the residents can be located much closer to the elevation of the antenna than considered in the blanket exclusions.

I prepared an approximate calculation based on an example given in the Bulletin and concluded that the radiation could be approximately 4 times the allowable limit for those people whose multistory house is located on ground higher than that at the pole. Please review the T-Mobile application for substantiation that the pole meets FCC requirements. It might facilitate your approval to raise this question with the safety group.

Thank you,

STREET PRIORITIES MAP OFFICE OF COMMUNITY TECHNOLOGY WEBSITE

Sign this petition and help us thwart residential cell tower development in our neighborhood. We will deliver this petition to T-Mobile, PGE and City of Portland to demonstrate the strength of our united front and depth of our conviction on this issue.

We simply want the ability to control the health and aesthetics of our historic Mt. Tabor neighborhood.

We believe that the Telecommunications Act of 1996 that bolsters residential cell tower development nationwide is flawed and requires amendment. We will do our part to see that changes in this federal regulation are made.

In the meantime we encourage local government to help citizens take a stand against such residential cell tower developments. We don't want to look back 20 years from now at a legacy of spotty, ugly and likely to be acknowledged as unhealthy cell towers developed throughout our lush, beautiful, quiet and cherished neighborhoods. WE CAN DO A BETTER JOB ON BEHALF OF FUTURE PORTLANDERS.

A recent Supreme Court ruling has made it easier for local government to deny residential cell tower developments. We encourage City of Portland to consider this new ruling:

<http://citiesspeak.org/2015/01/19/local-governments-win-cell-tower-supreme-court-case-for-the-most-part/>

While the 1996 Act does not allow health concerns as a reason to deny cell tower development (yes, you read that correctly), we believe that this provision is outdated in the face of significant research and regulatory precedence from other countries that acknowledge the negative health effects of cell towers on humans, particularly children, the elderly and the infirmed.

Particular to this Mt. Tabor T-Mobile/PGE project, we demand the following from the developers:

-Provide plans addressing the impact of this project on the historic nature of the immediate neighborhood, including historic Mt. Tabor Park and several nearby structures that are eligible for historic designation.

-Provide a stronger case for development of this tower. The case made at the April 20, 2015 pre-application hearing was weak, templated and uninspired. WE WILL NOT STAND FOR MEDIOCRITY IN OUR NEIGHBORHOOD.

-Acknowledgement from PGE that they control the destiny of their power poles and that they could side with our neighbors in protecting the historic nature of Mt. Tabor and opt out of the proposed T-Mobile cell tower development if they so choose.

-Acknowledgement that there will be a negative impact on property values of the immediate neighborhood. Furthermore, outline how exactly the developers intend to mitigate this negative impact.

-Specifications on the size and power of the proposed radio frequency devices to be installed and assurances that future upgrades to the unit will not exceed these original specifications.

Stand united, Mt. Tabor, and we WILL win the day!

Hi Karla,

I am hoping to be one of the 3 minute speakers with my neighbor, Darrell Yuen, regarding a large cell tower they are trying to put up in front of our homes on SE 71st Avenue. I understand that this request needed to be made by today at 5pm so here is my request.

Thanks,
