CURRENT NEEDS:

The coalition is in its formative stage and as yet has little access to resources. Basics such as xeroxing, postage, and a message phone number along with minimal staff support to send out mailings are in critical need.

MHRC's assistance with all or part of the above, even for a limited time, would be invaluable. It would be important to have clear agreements on specifics and procedures. In order to facilitate communication, coordination and harmonious working relationships, an ongoing liaison position could be established. Minutes 3/9/78

The meeting of people concerned about the cross-burning at the home of legislative candidate Carol Bryant began shortly after noon in the conference room of SIDCO Industries. There were 28 in attendance. Nick Barnett, Director of the Metropolitan Human Relations Commission, gave a brief history of some of the discriminatory activities that had previously occurred in Portland. He spoke about the Alpha Circle, which operated a racist and anti-semetic Hotline, and the group which got together to discuss what should be done about it. At that time it was felt that any action would only make their views more widely known and that they should be quietly monitored but not publicized. There was subsequently an expose in the Willamette Week, after which the Hotline was ceased and the Alpha Circle went underground. At about the same time there was an incident in the Beaverton school district of Neo-Nazi literature being distributed in a junior high.

After the introduction, those in attendance were asked to introduce themselves and then the meeting was thrown open for ideas and comments from the group.

1. Carol Bryant has expressed the wish that this not be allowed to become a Black-White issue or a response merely to her problem she feels that it is a larger problem that should focus on the community as a whole. Members of her campaign organization agreed saying that what is supportive of Carol may not be good for her campaign and that whatever action is taken needs to be sensitive to that. 2. We need to publicize that there is a large segment of the community that does not condone this kind of behavior - inaction is definitely the wrong thing in this case.

3. There needs to be a focus for any action or statement by the group, but care needs to be taken that the focus is broad enough to interest and involve the total community. (e.g. In speaking about the cross-burning, reference should be made to "the Bryant family" rather than to "Carol Bryant.")

4. There have been other cross-burnings recently in Portland which did not get publicized. They have been well organized and carried out by three or four white men who drive up in a van, set up the cross, light it, then speed away. So far they have been seen only by children who did not get the license number.

5. There needs to be a central organization so that people who hear about discriminatory activities can inform this organization of the date, time, place, etc. and hopefully patterns of activity can be determined.

6. It was brought up that impeding a political campaign is a federal crime and that the F.B.I. is now handling the case rather than the city.

7. The controversy over whether or not to publicize things like this was brought up. The one view is that these groups want publicity and by putting it in the papers and on TV we are simply playing into their hands and giving them what they want. It was the general concensus of those present, however, that the general public doesn't realize that these things are happening and that it should be made known a) so that the community does not remain ignorant of the type of discrimination going on around them, and b) to take away from the notion that this was an isolated incident.

8. The question was raised concerning media coverage of the "total problem" as opposed to "an isolated case." Will they be willing to cover the larger question when it cannot be handled in a 20 second news spot or one column in the paper?

- A. Channel 6 may be doing some investigative reporting for a series on discriminatory activity
- B. Town Hall may be a possible forum

C. Willamette Week should be urged to investigate it

9. The community needs to be educated so they are award of the extent of the problem and then asked for help. They need to be motivated, involved and guided.

- A. Going into churches, synagogues, schools, etc. and explaining the situation then charging them with the responsibility for action
- B. Block parties
- C. Neighbor Fairs
- D. Social Studies classes studying discrimination

10. The question was raised of what all the investigation was going to show was being done positively to counteract the discrimination

A. There needs to be a policy statement of feelings and recommendations concerning the larger issue and it should be published immediately

- B. There are two general responses needed the immediate one (articles, TV shows, etc.) and a long-range educational program in the schools to make children aware of the history and extent of discrimination
- C. Each person has his/her own area of interest and expertise and needs to have the freedom to present positive structured plans about what he/she wants to see done in that area

11. Nick Barnett offered his office as a central point to receive calls on further incidents and make the information available. It was moved and seconded that Nick be designated "leader" of the group and that any action be taken through him.

12. Three committees were organized: 1) Media - to draft a position statement for immediate release and then to work with the media for future publicity; 2) Group Showing - to organize parties, marches, etc. for a public showing of community solidarity; and 3) On-going Education - to make recommendations to the schools for a continuing program on discrimination and racism. The committees, especially the Media committee, were urged to get together right away and start formulating plans before the momentum slows.

13. Hopefully those at the meeting will report back to their respective organizations, urge a response, and report to Nick what the reaction was and what action, if any, is being taken.

14. It was decided that the first statement to the press will be from the individuals at the meeting rather from the represented organizations so that it can be released immediately instead of waiting for Board approvals. Organizations will be asked to endorse the Committee, however, so that subsequent statements and action will have the added strength of organizational names.

The meeting was adjourned at approximately 1:30 p.m.

NEWS RELEASE

PORTLANDERS GATHER TO COMBAT RACISM

A group of 25 people representing human rights, civic, educational, religious, political, and government groups met Thursday to begin an anti-bigotry campaign in Portland. The meeting was called by Metropolitan Human Relations Commission Director Nick Barnett in response to the recent cross burning at the home of a Black candidate for the Oregon House of Representatives.

"People at the meeting were concerned that this incident represents a resurgence of racism and bigotry in Oregon," said Barnett. "Several other recent happenings were mentioned, including the defacing of synagogues and the appearance of racist literature on public school grounds. We want to make clear that these acts have no support among the general citizens of Portland."

The individuals and groups represented at the meeting agreed to plan future activities to draw public attention to the problem of bigotry and to investigate reports of other incidents in the city. "The Metropolitan Human Relations Commission is willing to act as the coordinating body for concerned groups and individuals," said Barnett. The group requests that citizens with knowledge of racial harassment or ethnic discrimination report them to the MHRC for investigation.

PROCLAMATION

In light of these events, this Coalition for Human Dignity hereby proclaims the right of every person to dignity, respect, freedom from harassment, and intimida-tion.

We raise our voices in affirmation of these basic rights and state clearly to all that we shall not abide violations of these principles.

We are calling on all citizens to join us in a reaffirmation of these same principles on which this American republic was founded and which are the sources of those things that make this City/County truly livable.

This Coalition can be contacted through the Metropolitan Human Relations Commission - 248-4187.

DRAFT

TO:

All Interested Individuals and Organizations

Recently, the Metropolitan Human Relations Commission called together various individuals representing human rights, civil, educational, religious, political, and government groups to discuss the growth of racial incidents occurring in the Portland area over the past year.

The incidents include:

-- a cross burning at the home of a Black candidate for the Oregon House of Representatives.

--- swastikas painted on the outside of several synagogues.

-- swastikas painted on the Lovejoy Clinic.

-- the appearance of racial literature on public school grounds.

- a physical attack on an interracially married couple in Beaverton.

These incidents, along with the growing opposition to affirmative action programs, concern many citizens in the Portland area. It is our belief that these incidents are indicative of a growing climate which opposes ethnic integration and disallows basic human rights. We believe that a unified community has the power to inhibit acts of racial harassment and ethnic discrimination. Racism and bigotry only grow in a silent, uninformed community, and we have allowed it to go too far. It is now our responsibility to see that it does not continue. In Portland, we refuse to be silent! Even though these incidents are dismissed as pranks, it is the opinion of the Coalition that there is something inherently wrong when a community allows these kinds of acts against humanness and brotherhood.

In light of these occurrences, the Metropolitan Human Relations Commission, National Conference of Christians and Jews, National Association of Social Workers, American Jewish Committee, and other individuals and groups have agreed to join together to form a Coalition of Racial and Cultural Freedom. The Coalition plans to organize activities that will draw public attention to the problem and also provide an educational forum which will help to create a community-supported atmosphere of affirmation for racial, ethnic, and cultural pluralism.

The first of a number of planned activities will be to have May 7 declared UNITY DAY and to hold a public gathering in celebration of the common humanity of all races, ethnic groups, and cultures. UNITY DAY will be a time for all citizens of Portland to reaffirm their belief in and their commitment to an integrated society. It will be an opportunity to raise our voices in affirmation of basic human rights and state clearly to all that we shall not abide violation of these principles. UNITY DAY is the initiation of a continuing parade of planned events and activities designed to reaffirm and vitalize our dedication to these principles.

Come join us at the Park Blocks at 2:00 p.m., Sunday, May 7, and march to Waterfront Park for a public gathering at 3:00 p.m. At the public gathering, various community, religious, and political leaders will speak on our commitment to these important human freedoms.

We are asking every concerned citizen, every church, every civil rights group, and every organization in the Portland Metropolitan Area that is committed to liberty and justice to join us in this reaffirmation of the Bill of Rights.

We call upon those who are committed to human dignity to request that their organizations, churches, or groups of friends declare May 7, 1978 as UNITY DAY and hold special meetings, services, or discussions relating to human worth and respect on that day.

We further request that in observation of that day, you and the members of _your organization, church, synagogue, or group join us in a public gathering to issue our proclamation on Portland's commitment to uphold the right of every person to dignity, respect, and freedom from harassment and intimidation.

If you as a concerned individual, or an organization to which you belong, wish to assist in this effort, please send a letter of confirmation to the Coalition of Racial and Cultural Freedom, c/o MHRC, 312 Corbett Building, 430 S. W. Morrison, Portland 97204 -- phone 248-4187.

Mr. Nick Barnett Metropolitan Human Relations Commission 430 S. W. Morrison Street Portland, Oregon 97204

Dear Nick,

Thank you for all the information you sent me regarding the first meeting of "Coalition for Human Dignity".

On March 29, 1978 the Board of Directors voted to withhold an official position on the question of our organization becoming a member of this coalition until more specific details of the composition of the coalition and its plan of action are available to us.

In the meantime we will continue to send a representative to the meetings, and, in fact, I will endeavor to attend myself, so that I personally, will be able to make a recommendation at our next Board meeting, April 26, 1978.

I look forward to meeting you, and hopefully, to be able to work with you on this crucial issue.

Sincerely,

Rose

Dear Mark:

In reviewing the minutes of the June 29th meeting of the Coalition, I noted the statement that a "representative from the Jewish Federation will be supplied by Mr. Robert Tropp."

It is my understanding, that I am on the Mailing List because of personal concerns which I have regarding the First Amendment freedoms.

However, I am not empowered to unilaterally appoint a representative from the Jewish Federation to the Coalition. In order for a representative to be appointed, more specific information about the Coalition and its purposes would need to be addressed to Mr. Richard Brownstein, Acting Chairman, Community Relations Committee at the Federation address. It would be the responsibility of Mr. Brownstein and the Community Relations Committee to decide the merits of appointing a representative to the Coalition.

A second slight correction in the minutes would probably be in order. The minutes indicate that Rose Rustin and Laurie Rogoway visited the Anti-Defamation League, collecting an assortment of materials on Racism. Both Ms. Rogoway and Ms. Rustin visited the Federation office, reviewed and borrowed some materials from our files concerning Racism. In a telephone conversation with Rose Rustin, I suggested the possibility of contacting the Regional Office of the Anti-Defamation League in Seattle where more extensive materials are kept.

MINUTES - COALITION FOR RACIAL AND CULTURAL FREEDOM

The Coalition for Racial and Cultural Freedom met at 12:30 p.m., July 19, 1978, in the Main Branch of the Multnomah County Library. Present: Joni Berman, Rose Gangle, Elizabeth Groff, Suzanne Henry, Don Lacy, Viona Lacy, Laurie Rogoway, Mark Rosenbaum, Father William Wetzel, Jean DeMaiffe, Edward Murray, Linda Roberts, and Gene Turner.

The meeting was called to order by the Chairperson, Mark Rosenbaum, who gave two examples of the need for education on racism: The painting of swastikas on the doors and the placing of toilet paper on the lawns of a Lake Oswego residence by unthinking teenagers, and the glorification of the Nazi-like feature of Barth Gimbel (Fernwood 2Nite) by the Portland student paper, Paper Rose.

The last sentence, fourth paragraph, of the last meeting minutes was changed to read that Dwayne Eubanks was to set up a review for Mark and him to view a series on Black History shown by Channel 10 several years ago, with the possibility of it being shown to the Coalition.

Suzanne Henry was to replace Rose Rustin as the representative of the National Council of Jewish Women.

Discussion on old business followed:

Mark asked for comments about the article on the Coalition in the Willamette Week. It was thought that the lack of feedback was typical of articles presented in Willamette Week that were uncontroversial or unsensational.

Ed Murray, an MHRC student intern, was introduced. He was to do research for the Coalition, and his time is to be utilized in (1) obtaining background on early Black publications in Oregon, and (2) establishing legal time lines of sundown and property laws in Oregon. Later, he is to do research in the library and tape interviews.

Two new members are to be added. The Urban Indian Council is to send a representative for the Native American community, and Carol Bryant will be active in the Coalition again.

Two possible funding sources would be explored. The McKenzie River Gathering project funds social change programs. They have a special fund which provides from $300 to $3,000. The Coalition will be contacting them soon. An application for CETA will be made as soon as possible. The list was reviewed to determine who had been contacted, and the results. Robert Tropp was to provide representation for the Jewish Federation. Timi Tambara, of the Japanese American Citizens League, would be at the meeting. Linda Roberts was to contact Rev. John Jackson of the NAACP to inquire about the continuance of their representation. Gloria McWilliams was contacted and was to be here today, but was not present. Although the Chinese Consolidated Benevolent Association is only a socializing organization, there will be representation from the Chinese-American Community.

Mark is to meet with the Black Study Center and find out about a conference to be held in October. No one had contacted Ron Herndon and the Office of Neighborhood Associations. The Washington County League of Voters is to be placed on the mailing list per the request of Viona Lacy. Rose Gangle is to contact the Women's Resource Center.

A lengthy discussion took place on the role of each organization in the Coalition, and the best strategies in order to reach the degree of excellence that would build the reputation receptivity of the Coalition was held. Whether the members should pursue individual or particular cultural groups, or whether the whole group should work on one group at a time was discussed. Various other problems were presented -- such as, which group would have priority. Finally, a structuring committee composed of Mark Rosenbaum, Rose Gangle, Elizabeth Groff, and Suzanne Henry was to work on the guidelines and target market to present them to the next meeting.

Next, rumors were discussed. Elizabeth noted that she had heard a cross had been burned on a lawn on Morrison Street during the NAACP Convention. Father Wetzel pointed out that the subtle rumors, such as the cancellation of rooms at the NAACP Convention as reported by the Oregonian, should be reported and recorded.

The next meeting will be at 12:30 p.m., August 16, 1978, at the Main Branch of the Multnomah County Library.

The meeting adjourned at 1:45 p.m.

Mr. Nate Long Television for All Children KWSU-TV Washington State University Pullman, Washington 99163

Dear Mr. Long:

As a member of the Coalition for Racial and Cultural Freedom (a task force of the Metropolitan Human Relations Commission), I read with interest and shared with the Coalition a recent article in the Oregonian regarding the television programs you have developed on minority cultures.

The Coalition is a community-based organization which was formed a few months ago with the intent of furthering cultural awareness in the Portland Metropolitan Area. Our goal is to develop a centralized resource body for the accumulation and dissemination of cultural awareness educational programs and to advocate for their use in various educational settings.

We are extremely interested in seeing the programs you have developed available in the Portland area. We would like to offer our assistance in seeing that our local television stations air these special programs.

If you will send us information on specific programs, we would be happy to send letters to the various stations encouraging them to make your programs available to their viewers.

Please let us know if we can be of any further assistance.

Sincerely,

Mark Rosenbaum, Chairman Coalition for Racial and Cultural Freedom

The Community Coalition For Racial & Cultural Freedom Minutes of August 16, 1978 Meeting

The Coalition for Racial and Cultural Freedom met at 12:30 p.m., August 16, 1978 in the Main Branch of the Multnomah County Library. Present were: Joni Berman, Sheryl Bushong, Elizabeth Groff, Mark Rosenbaum, Kimi Tambari, Linda Calvin, Jean DeMaiffe, Linda Roberts, and Gene Turner. Excused: Carol Williams Bryant, and Jane Cease.

The meeting was called to order by the Chairperson, Mark Rosenbaum. The minutes of the previous meeting were approved without amendments.

The Chairperson reported that two new persons, Verna Bailey, Human Relations Specialist, Beaverton School District #48; and Adele White, Mt. Tabor Middle School, although unable to attend, were interested in maintaining communications with the Coalition.

Diane Lund, Editor of Shalom Portland and writer for the Community Press, has contacted the Coalition. Shalom Portland is a new publication whose objective is to increase communication between Christians and Jews. The Coalition was viewed as a source of articles for Shalom Portland and as an aid in its distribution.

A new member, Sheryl Bushong, attended the Coalition meetings for the first time.

Kimie Tambari gave a brief review of the Japanese American Citizens League National Conference at Salt Lake City, Utah, last month. She commented, especially, on Senator S.I. Hayakawa's anti-redress closing remarks and The Oregonian's editorial support of his posture.

A discussion took place on the Goals and Objectives which were prepared by the ad hoc planning committee. Objective No. 4 was revised to read: "Serve as a clearinghouse for the community on past and present forms of racism, cultural awareness information, and community issues.

The assigning of committee members was postponed until more members' input is received. In order to achieve more member input and participation the following steps are to be taken:

- 1. Goals and objectives and suggestions of committees sent to all members, with a cover letter.
- 2. Mark will contact all members to determine the best time and day for maximum membership attendance.
- 3. Elizabeth Groff will explore the possibility of showing a relevant movie at the next meeting.
