Leave the South Park Blocks alone

As a devoted Portland resident, I have been drawn throughout my years to the South Park Blocks. Walking under the overarching limbs of the graceful deciduous trees, I enjoy casting my eyes down the long avenues of green and am grateful for the foresight of the early stewards of our city.

Now it is time for the current stewards, our mayor and commissioners, to redirect the master plan and see to it that the park remain intact curb to curb; that the existing tree stock be energetically maintained
