Director's Report

1. Independent Police Review (IPR) Work Plan / Accomplishments

2016 CRC recruitment

The Citizen Review Committee (CRC) recruitment begins today, the application has been posted on the IPR website. Current CRC members whose terms expire are encouraged to apply. The CRC application is found on the IPR website. The application deadline is in June.

IPR Outreach

IPR Community Outreach Coordinator Irene Konev attended and connected with East Portland Youth Advocates and met with the new director of Russian Oregon Social Services to plan a TV and radio segment on the IPR commendation and complaint process. She met with the executive director of Ahishka Turkish Community Center, and attended Metro's Equity Community Conversation which took place with many of Portland's executive directors of social service agencies in attendance.

Konev has continued outreach with some of the participants from last month's Community Dialogue with Latino Network, and made a presentation to the staff of Hacienda CDC. Latino Network continues to engage with IPR and are planning a follow - up conversation on police accountability.

IPR director Constantin Severe spoke on KBOO Radio and expanded awareness of IPR's police oversight role. IPR Assistant Director Anika Bent-Albert continues to attend and engage with community stakeholders and members of the Police Bureau at the Developmental Disabilities Advisory Committee meeting. This is an advisory body to the Chief of Police, and the committee meets monthly at East Precinct.

Community Feedback

- Latino community members request further community engagement with IPR and are interested in applying to serve on the CRC and PRB.
- Service providers working with Latino youth report positive engagement with Portland Police officers.
