Director's Report

1. Independent Police Review (IPR) Work Plan / Accomplishments

IPR Staff Ride-Alongs

IPR staff is committed to annual ride-alongs with Portland Police officers. More than half of the IPR staff have completed their annual ride-along with the rest to be completed before the end of the year.

Police Review Board Appointments

After many months of volunteer recruitment, selection and training, IPR presented 12 new and returning volunteers to Portland City Council for appointment to begin their three-year terms. This volunteer board is a rich reflection of Portland's diverse community.

Citizen Review Committee Recruitment

The Citizen Review Committee recruitment ended on September 26th and IPR received 13 applications. Applicants are being interviewed in mid-November.

Outreach

IPR Senior Community Outreach Coordinator Irene Konev reached out to organizations, community leaders and individuals for the Citizen Review Committee recruitment.

She networked at Community Peace Collaborative, Simple X Mixer, Oregon Assembly for Black Affairs Quarterly Meeting, Native American Youth and Family Center Neerchokikoo Powwow, Serbian Festival, Noche Bella Latino Network, Portland Committee for Community-Engaged Policing Meeting, Pro Bono and Community Service Fair at Lewis & Clark Law School, South East Public Safety Committee Meeting, Center for Women's Leadership "Annual Power Luncheon, Breaking Bread and Barriers Networking Dinner and at Sisters of the Road.

IPR held a community forum at Sisters of the Road to discuss IPR and Audit Services' recent work on homelessness issues. IPR Director Ross Caldwell, Deputy Director Dana Walton-Macaulay, IPR

Investigator Eric Nomura and IPR Policy & Outreach Coordinator KC Jones attended and heard from staff and customers of Sisters of the Road. Portland City Auditor Mary Hull Caballero, Caldwell, Walton-Macaulay and Konev met with executive director of Unite Oregon. The same also attended and gave a presentation on the IPR commendation/complaint process at the Immigrant & Refugee Community Organization all-staff meeting. Citizen Review Committee member Jihane Nami also presented to Immigrant & Refugee Community Organization on the role of the volunteer committee at the all staff meeting.
