

African American history guide

The materials found within this virtual box were either used in the creation of or informed the guide in some manner. Scans of photos, flyers, and documents have been brought together from several City collections for ease of use and access.

There are many more records available for researching the intersections between the City of Portland and the African American community. You may search our online database, Efiles, for information about the records, or you may visit the Research Room at the City of Portland Archives & Records Center (1800 SW 6th Ave, Suite 550) to discuss your research interests with the archivists. You can find our hours of operation by visiting our website www.portlandoregon.gov/auditor/archives.
