Presenter name: Celia Heron

Purpose of proposed legislation and background information:

The Budget Office has long been the City agency that manages the Percent for Art program. However, when the independent City Budget Office was created, no one amended the City Code to reflect that the CBO, not OMF, manages the Percent for Art program. This ordinance makes those Code amendments.

Financial and budgetary impacts:

There is no financial impact resulting from correcting City Code language.

Community impacts and community involvement:

There was no community involvement in making these Code changes. It is an internal, housekeeping-type of action. There is no community impact resulting from making these Code changes. The Percent for Art program continues to be managed by the Budget Office as it always has been.
